Three vacancies on the Massachusetts Superior bench were filled to-day by Governor Foss, presiding at the Executive Council meeting there. The nominees are:

Nathan D. Pratt of Lowell, to succeed Judge James R. Richardson of Boston, deceased.

Fred H. Chase of Boston, to succeed Judge Charles A. De Couzy, appointed to the Supreme Court bench.

Richard W. Irwin of Northampton, to succeed Judge Edgar J. Sherman, resigned.

A new judge for the municipal court in Boston was also named by the Governor. He is John Duff, to succeed Judge William J. Fernald.

ECHO OF FAMOUS H. H. ROGERS SUIT

An echo of an old suit against H. H. Rogers was heard to-day in Judge Hardy's court when C. H. Raymond brought a suit to recover $2,200 from Charles H. Spencer, an attorney, claiming that amount of his share of $45,000, which the late Rogers paid in settlement of a claim made by Charles F. Greenough, a New York inventor, who discovered how to make kerosene oil non-explosive. Greenough sued Rogers for $500,000 for royalties. He finally assigned his claims to Raymond. A settlement for $45,000 was effected and the law suit is over the division of that money.

WOMAN BURNED BY FAT BOILING OVER

Mrs. James Parsons was badly burned trying to extinguish a fire in the kitchen of her third-floor flat at No. 78 Marvin street, Chelsea, to-day. She was found unconscious on the floor by Patrolman Timothy Cunningham, who lives on the ground floor.

Cunningham also took out Mrs. Parsons's four young children. With Ex-Representative Ignatius Carleton and Frank Clark he assisted Mrs. Thomas Rainey to get her two children out from the first floor. Mrs. Cunningham saved their two-year-old child.

The fire was caused by fat boiling over in a kettle in which Mrs. Parsons was frying doughnuts.

FOSS STANDS BY "OLD GUNS"

Governor Foss declared emphatically to-day that reciprocity with Canada would again be a chief issue of his campaign for the governorship.

In discussing the planks proposed for the Democratic platform with a number of the party leaders at the State House, the Governor insisted that a strong reciprocity declaration be made. He also announced that he would urge reciprocity on the stump this year as strongly as he did last year in his successful campaign.

"I will do all in my power to make this a potent issue this year," the Governor declared to his callers.

Governor Foss said to-day to the AMERICAN:

"What if Canada has turned reciprocity down? The Canadians, when they voted on the question, had the annexation bugaboo before their eyes and allowed it to swerve them from their better judgment and from the main issue, although they really favor reciprocity itself.

Money from the Trusts.

"Another cause which contributed to the defeat of reciprocity was the enormous amount of money sent over the border by certain special interests to influence votes against the pact.

"Why should I not make reciprocity an issue? It is bound to come. I am one of the first men, in New England, at least, that started the cry for reform. Reciprocity is a good thing. It will be a good thing for the people of this country as well as for those of Canada.

"I am going to stand by my old guns and keep the reciprocity issue alive during the coming campaign."

The Governor had a half hour talk today with George W. Anderson, the Democratic candidate for attorney-general. They discussed plans for an active campaign to defeat Attorney-General Swift, the Republican incumbent and renominee.

"Night Before" at Quincy House.

The members of the Democratic State ticket will receive at the Quincy House this evening in connection with the "night before" the State convention of the party. Governor Foss, David I. Walsh of Fitchburg, candidate for lieutenant-governor; Frank J. Donahue, candidate for secretary of state; Charles D. Strecker, candidate for auditor; A. L. Thorndike of Brewster, candidate for treasurer, and George W. Anderson of Boston, candidate for attorney-general will all be present to greet the delegates and voters of the party. A special train has been engaged for the reception, in addition to the reservations made for the "night before" gathering.

The State Committee will go into session at the Quincy House to-night at 7 o'clock. Chairman Michael J. Kelly of the Democratic Legislative Campaign Committee has issued a call for the meeting to be held to-day at 11 a. m. at No. 18 Beacon street. An active campaign to elect every Democratic candidate for Senator and Representative will be mapped out.

PRESIDENT MURLIN VISITS FITZGERALD

President Lemuel H. Murlin and Professor F. Spencer Baldwin of Boston University called upon Mayor Fitzgerald to-day. President Murlin, who recently came from the West, said he was delighted with Boston and would do everything in his power to aid in the city's work as head of one of its educational institutions.

DESERTED AFFIDAVIT ON DAY OF WEDDING

ROCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 4.—Miss Mary Ellen Goodwin was to have been married to-day to John J. Fuller of Boston. She is a prominent Rochester girl and extensive preparations had been made for the wedding.

This afternoon the girl is prostrated at her home. She is broken hearted. For the man failed to keep the appointment. Just about the time the ceremony was to have been performed and Miss Goodwin was waiting to be taken to the church, a note was handed to her. It told the trembling girl that Fuller had changed his mind. It intimated that he would kill himself.

Miss Goodwin was to have been married at a solemn high nuptial mass in St. Mary's Catholic Church by the Rev. Fr. Corcoran. Joseph Cassidy, a young business man of this place, was to have been the best man and Miss Katherine Malley the bridesmaid.

John Halpin and Thomas Brennan were to act as ushers. The church had been opened and many of the friends of the young woman had gathered. Miss Molly Donoghue sat ready to play a wedding march and Walter Heanigan had a solo ready. They waited.

But they were not as impatient as was Miss Goodwin at her home. As the moments ticked off the girl began to fear that something had happened to detain the young man. But she was dressed and flitted about, nervously seeing that everything was in readiness for the wedding breakfast. Then the note, fatal to her happiness, was put in her hand. With a cry she fainted and would have fallen if she had not been caught.

"He's not coming—he's changed his mind!" wailed the girl. Then she fainted.

The news was carried to the church.

FOWLER TO START AGAIN ON FLIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—Announcement was made here to-day that Robert G. Fowler, who started in the Bennett $50,000 flight from coast to coast some time ago and was stalled in the Sierra Nevada mountains, will start all over again, this time from Los Angeles. The time limit for the Hearst prize expires on October 10, but Fowler says he is anxious to make the flight just to prove that it can be done. He intends getting a new machine with a more powerful engine, which will make it possible for him to fly through the altitudes of the Sierras without difficulty.

ADMIRAL SCHLEY BURIED TO-MORROW

Dr. Roland Cotton Smith officiating. The interment will take place at Arlington. Orders have been issued from the Philadelphia Navy Yard to dispatch two companies of sailors and two companies of marines to this city, and a similar order has been issued to the Naval Academy and the Washington Navy Yard for complements of seamen and marines.

WORLD'S SERIES WILL BEGIN ON OCT. 14

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—The world's series will begin on October 14. That was the announcement made by President Ban Johnson of the American League to-day, before he started for New York to attend a meeting of the National Commission. The place where the first game will be played will be determined by the toss of a coin.

$4,000 EVEN ON MACK TEAM TO BEAT GIANTS

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 4.—Josephus and Lochoin, banker and brokers, No. 139 South Broad street, this afternoon placed a bet of $4,000 even money on the Philadelphia Americans to defeat the New York Giants in the world's champion series.

Dr. A. C. Daniels' Canker Remedy for sore ears in dog or cat. At Riker drug Stores.

Mrs. Mary Jane Strumbert of No. 211 Harvard street, Cambridge, who admitted to a reporter of the Sunday AMERICAN that she wrote the mysterious letter in the Dodge murder case in Vermont, made an affidavit to her statement to-day in the law office of John R. Mc'ey & Bro., 43 Tremont street. With the McVeys at the time was Lawyer Howard Blodgett of St. Johnsbury, Vt., who was one of the attorneys who defended Mrs. Florence M. Dodge when she was tried at Guildhall for the murder of William A. Heath.

Mrs. Strumbert's Affidavit.

This is Mrs. Strumbert's sworn statement:

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Suffolk, ss. Boston, Mass.
October 4, 1911.

Personally appeared before me, duly appointed notary public, within and for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Mary J. Strumbert, and having been first duly sworn by me makes oath and deposes as follows:

My name is Mary J. Strumbert. I am a single lady and reside at No. 211 Harvard street, Cambridge, Massachusetts. For a number of years I have been interested in several murder trials. I was first interested in the Lizzie Borden trial at Fall River, some years ago. I have frequently written to police officials since then of how different murders have been committed. On December 27th, I wrote a letter addressed to Attorney-General Sargent, Lunenburg, Vermont, and a photograph of said letter is hereto annexed to said deposition; said letter was in my own handwriting and signed by my initials "M. J. S." Said letter was mailed by me December 28th, 1910, in Brookline, Massachusetts.

I further say and depose, that I have never been in Vermont in my life. I have never seen anyone in Vermont nor have I talked with anyone in Vermont, before writing said letter. The letter as I know was used in the Dodge murder trial, which recently took place in Vermont.

I never saw nor have I ever seen Mrs. Dodge, defendant in the same case, or have I had communication with her directly or indirectly in regard to anything further I depose and say that Mrs. Dodge did not know of said letter, or did anyone in this world know of it. The letter was my own composition, and the theory as to how the murder was committed was my own theory.

Wrote to the Judge.

I further depose and say that during the pendency of the Dodge murder trial in Vermont I wrote and mailed a special delivery letter to the Hon. Alfred A. Hall, presiding judge at same trial, and this letter I informed the judge of my authorship of the letter mailed to the Attorney-General; I notified Judge Hall of this because I felt that Mrs. Dodge was being injured wrongfully because of the letter I had written.

I later called up Judge Hall on the long distance telephone and asked him if he had received my letter. I informed him of the fact that I had written the original letter received by Attorney-General Sargent, and he replied that he had received the letter and wanted my name; this I declined to give.

I also attach to this deposition a copy of said letter of December 27th, 1910. In my own handwriting, and which I have this day written in the presence of the magistrate hereinafter mentioned.

MARY J. STRUMBERT
(Seal) Mary J. Strumbert.
Notary Public, 43 Tremont street, Boston, Mass.

Letter Used in Trial.

At the trial a letter, signed "M. J. S.," was introduced in which the writer said she saw a man shoot Heath, and that they had had a quarrel over money.

The State called experts who swore that in their opinion Mrs. Heath wrote the letter. It was claimed by some that the letter was a factor in fixing Mrs. Dodge's guilty; the jury apparently believing that she had written the letter to divert attention from herself.

Mrs. Dodge denied that she wrote the letter. She was sentenced to serve from four to six years in prison.

When the Weston selectmen met two weeks ago to decide who was entitled to the reward for the arrest of Charles L. Tucker, who was electrocuted for the murder of Mabel Page, Mrs. Strumbert attended the meeting and said she had seen Tucker commit the crime "through the spirit." Later she admitted to the AMERICAN man that she wrote the Dodge letter.

Lawyer Blodgett will use the information in trying to have Mrs. Dodge pardoned.

AMERICAN LEAGUE PARK, NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Red Sox and Highlanders clashed in their final game of the season to-day. Both teams put up snappy practices and each hoped to win the game, especially the Yankees, who appreciate their proximity to the edge of the second division.

Encouraged by the overwhelming cooling they gave the local outfit yesterday, when they captured both games of a double-header, the Red Sox hoped to make it three straight to-day.

SEALING OF WIVES BEGINS IN SALT LAKE

SALT LAKE, Utah, Oct. 4.—Twenty Mormon families, consisting of twenty husbands and as many "other wives," arrived here from the Mormon settlements in New Mexico, having made the journey that they might "go through the temple," which in the language of the inner church means that their polygamous marriage ties, contracted in New Mexico, are to be confirmed here by the high priests. The church rite by which the husbands are "sealed" to their additional wives for eternity is performed only during conference week. The ceremony of "sealing" occupies several days.

TRIPOLITAN CITY TAKEN BY ITALIANS

ROME, Oct. 4.—The city of Tripoli was surrendered to the Italian war fleet under Admiral Aubrey by the acting Turkish Governor-General, Bessim Bey, to-day after a terrific bombardment had reduced the Turkish fortifications to a mass of ruins and the Turkish garrison, which had made a second stand on the heights above the city, had been routed by shells charged with shrapnel.

The bombardment to-day was a continuation of that of yesterday. From 3:30 until sunset yesterday afternoon the cannon on Admiral Aubrey's warship pounded the Turkish fortifications in the harbor until more than half of them were in ruins.

ROME, Oct. 4.—A report came from Constantinople to-day that an Italian warship had fired upon and sunk a steam coastwise boat, flying the English flag, off Hodeidah. The British consul, the dispatch said, had made the charge to-day.

This news startled Rome. It is feared that complications with England may ensue if the report proves true. It is believed here that if an English boat was sunk by an Italian warship it was a blunder, for which tuis government would make any reparation demanded.

DEADLY ACCURACY OF ITALIAN FIRE.

To-day the work of destruction was completed by the Italian cannon and the Turks driven from the town were forced to surrender it to their foes. This puts Italy in formal possession of the city and paves the way, it is believed, to peace negotiations.

The fire of the Italian ships, when the bombardment was resumed this morning, was deadly in its accuracy, and the heavier outer forts of the Turkish garrison were soon in ruins.

The Turks then removed their guns to the heights above the town and reopened fire. The Italian ships replied with shrapnel, which sent the Turks flying in all directions and caused their commander to order the white flag of surrender to be run up.

When this dispatch was sent the fleet was preparing to land a force of 4,000 men to take formal possession of the city.

News of the surrender came to Rome by wireless from Admiral Aubrey, on board the flagship Giuseppe Garibaldi, and when the news was officially announced the crowds in the street went wild with enthusiasm.

With Tripoli in the hands of the Italians, it is now believed that the Turks will not try to hold out longer, and will accede to the demands of Italy, unless other powers intervene to save Turkey from this humiliation.

The Italians were surprised that the fighting

HARMONY SLOGAN OF REPUBLICANS IN CONVENTION TO RATIFY TICKET

"Insurgent" Who Made Threats Comes to Front with Plea for Peace.

The Republican State convention in Tremont Temple to-day was a tame gathering and there was no fight over the insurgent planks which the platform committee rejected. Messrs. Senator Crane, Congressman Weeks and Samuel J. Elder ran the proceedings, with Senator Lodge in the background.

The convention was merely a gathering to ratify the State ticket nominated by the direct vote of the Republicans of Massachusetts at the primaries. The party nominees are:

The Ticket.

For Governor—Louis A. Frothingham of Boston.

For Lieutenant Governor—Robert Luce of Somerville.

For Secretary of State—Albert P. Langtry of Springfield.

For Treasurer—Elmer A. Stevens of Somerville.

For Auditor—John E. White of Tisbury.

For Attorney-General—James M. Swift of Fall River.

Candidates Frothingham and Luce said that the G. O. P. is going to win at the polls, something which most of the delegates are inclined to doubt. Every speaker hammered the Foss administration. There were warnings uttered about a Democratic victory this Fall imperilling Massachusetts industries.

Chairman Elder of the resolutions committee wanted to put a reciprocity plank in the platform, but Senator Crane and Congressman Weeks got him to leave it out.

Representative Russell A. Wood of Cambridge, who had threatened to be an insurgent on the floor, spoke for "harmony."

The dramatic event of the convention was when Speaker Joseph Walker escorted Frothingham to the platform, and Walker, when the cheers subsided, said:

"Gentlemen, I present to you with great pleasure, the Republican candidate for Governor, Louis A. Frothingham!"

"Every Little Movement."

As the committee on platform, headed by Samuel J. Elder, its chairman, walked across the front of the hall, there was some very decorous applause and the band began to play "Every Little Movement Has a Meaning of Its Own."

There were about 2,000 entitled to sit as delegates, and many hangers around the floor with much interest to see how many of those elected in the rival districts had come to town. The most that was talked about by the delegates as they arrived, aside from the slim chance of polling their ticket through at the polls in November, was the fine platform and the attempts of the insurgents to get some planks into it which would really free the public heart. President Taft is touring the West trying to educate insurgents there, but his eulogists in this State are more disposed to talk that breed of voters in Massachusetts.

It was the first State convention held by Republicans since the party was organized when all hands assembled with the tacit understanding that their ticket was apparently beaten from the start. The convention prior to the Gaston, the Butler, the Russell, the Douglas and Foss campaigns were all animated by the "surething" spirit. Seven times since the Civil War ended, a period of forty-five elections, have the Democrats won. But on every occasion the result was a surprise to the G. O. P., although in the last two Russell campaigns they realized at the beginning that they had a grand fight on their hands. This was the first convention in the history of the party in Massachusetts when it held a State convention in the expectation of being walloped on election day. But the delegates were imbued with the idea that there would be enough money in the treasury to enable the party to conduct a needle campaign. When it became known there would be no reciprocity plank in the platform it was said that the cause of elimination was a victory for Crane, Lodge and Congressman Weeks. It was significant that in this convention everybody mentioned Crane before Lodge.

Wood in Storage.

Somebody got Representative Wood of Cambridge into cold storage during the "night before." He gave a fine exhibition of the difficulty of incasketing with frozen feet. After appearing before the resolutions committee and clamoring for recognition of the stalwart youth of the party, the initiative and the referendum, direct election of Senators, income measure, a Federal income tax, equal suffrage, free information by the State concerning the electoral candidates, the abolition of the electoral college and presidential election, he also stated he was for "harmony" and was turned down with a pat on the head and the assurances that he was a fine boy.

Nothing Was "Started."

This was not generally known by the delegates until after the time for his exploding bombs had passed. Those who expected Mr. Wood to "start something" were sadly disappointed.

At 11 o'clock the convention stars entered in this order: State Chairman Hatfield, Senators Crane and Lodge, Robert Luce, candidate for Lieutenant-Governor; President Frederick W. Hamilton of Tufts College, Speaker Joseph Walker, Secretary of State Langtry, ex-Governor Draper, State Treasurer Stevens, State Auditor White, Congressmen Gregg, Lawrence and Ames.

Former Governor Draper and Speaker Walker were well received, and the prayer was heard. Secretary John Curtis of Brookline read the call.

Representative A. H. Bliss of Malden moved that Chairman Charles E. Hatfield and Curtis continue as temporary chairman and secretary, and there was great applause for Hatfield when he got up and praised Frothingham and Luce, and said that a vigorous campaign would elect them.

People Are Aroused.

"The people of the Commonwealth," he remarked, "seem to be aroused as they have not been in years. There is a feeling abroad that Massachusetts should return to a safe and sane government. The old Republican stiffs of State drifted a bit last year from its moorings, but it is safe back to harbor and ready for action."

Senator Pearson made the motion for the appointment of a committee on credentials. Melvin O. Adams moved for a committee on permanent organization, and Mr. Elder's motion was of the "same" order, because it carried a provision that all suggestions for planks be referred to the committee without debate.

Defends Protective Policy.

Congressman Harris, after praising the candidates chosen by the Republicans at the primaries, launched into a defence of the protective tariff policy. He said:

"Our candidates are Republicans without pecks or cuffs, either on or off the ballot. They are our candidates because the people know they not only will maintain the standard of Massachusetts government, but will also, represent and uphold the national policies of the Republican party.

"After their election, no man will spend time in gloomy foreboding as to what is to become of the State of Massachusetts. Massachusetts has always been well governed.

"The American business man with his higher paid workmen is efficient and is finding some foreign markets for his wares. He has found and is finding those under our protective tariff. He has found them because he has ingenuity and specialties, and because off-times his higher cost goes with by their honesty of workmanship and thoroughness of construction. Our system has demonstrated that it is possible to diminish the cost of a manufactured article while at the same time maintaining a high wages scale."

After reading the official call, which said that the delegates had assembled to adopt a platform and transact any other business of importance, Chairman Hatfield introduced Rev. Frederick W. Hamilton, president of Tufts College, who made the opening prayer.

According to the good old Republican custom, Chairman Hatfield was requested to act as the temporary convention chairman. The first business was the appointment of the committees on credentials, permanent organization and resolutions.

For the Organization Committee Former Governor John L. Bates reported in favor of having Congressman Robert O. Harris of East Bridgewater serve as permanent chairman of the convention.

Harris Makes Plea.

Congressman Harris was unanimously chosen for the position. He made a strong speech in favor of the election of Frothingham and Luce as Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, and presented the issues of the campaign that were in his opinion of the most vital interest in a forceful, dignified and convincing manner.

Louis A. Frothingham, the Republican candidate for Governor, in his speech said that four months ago his party seemed sure of defeat, and two months ago it was thought the nominees had a fighting chance. "Now," he said, "we are going to win."

He said the election of Foss a year ago was a voluntary eruption, and that the party has been flowing ever since." He said that under the Foss administration there had been delays of messages and vetoes. He said the council had been forced to reject many appointments.

"In ever case," he remarked, "we have treated the Governor with uniform courtesy and consideration, even to the extent of ratifying acts we would not ourselves have presented."

He criticised the Foss administration in general, particularly the investigation of State departments and institutions, and said that it had tried to besmirch the good name of the Commonwealth. He added:

Brings in National Issues.

"Important National as well as State issues must enter into this campaign. Never in my public career have the industries of Massachusetts been so threatened as to-day. Do the people of Massachusetts appreciate the possible disaster that has been saved their great industries by the three brave vetoes of President Taft? I think they do and will show that appreciation on the first occasion that presents itself, namely, November 7th. He advocates revision of schedules, but revision in a sane manner after acquiring knowledge of what its effect will be on the important industries of this country, on whose success the bread and butter of thousands and thousands of people depends.

"Surely the people of Massachusetts will not stand idly and see the industries on which their livelihood depends lightly tampered with. They will not say to the Southerners who control the Democratic party that they approve their legislation keeping protection on the staple products of the South while striking in the dark at the duties on Massachusetts industries. Rather they will send forth a message on November 7 that they desire some tariff revision and desire to uphold the stand for that kind of revision taken by President Taft.

"The next Governor," shouted the delegates as Frothingham concluded. And then came these cheers:

"Three cheers for Frothingham!"

"What is the matter with Frothingham?"

And then the swelling chorus:

"He's all right!"

The victory of the day was Robert Luce's. The candidate for Lieutenant-Governor was given to understand that he was popular with Republicans by the cheers he received. He was the center of the day. In fact, he was the star actor of the play. With unusual fervor and eloquence he pictured the punch of poverty which people would feel under a Democratic tariff. Never has he spoken with such effect. He held the audience spellbound. He did not bid for applause, and there was applause only at the right moments. And, when he ceased, then—well, then he received an ovation. His stirring castigation of Governor Foss for charging that one-half of the State's money has been wasted in management, and a great deal of it stolen, was the rending feature of the convention.

At 1:15 the convention adjourned.

"Tips" One Cause of High Living Cost, Says Harris

Our protective policy has been as broad as the country. New England has asked nothing that she was not willing to give. The country has prospered under it. . . . We are complaining of the high cost of living. . . . Possibly if we as a people were content to live as we did thirty years ago, while receiving higher wages to-day, the savings would be greater. The trail of nickels and dimes that an average American young man leaves behind him in his travels is distinctly visible. The barber, the bootblack, the soda fountain, the theatre, the million small coin-extracting things of daily life, in the total, add much to annual expenditure. Wages have not increased as has the cost of living, if we include in that cost the multiplied opportunities to expend small but frequent sums—Congressman Robert O. Harris, in his keynote speech to-day as permanent chairman of the Republican State convention at Tremont Temple.

Tip-Not Tariff

The G. O. P. convention
Puts an end to the contention
Which has raged on why
Our living costs us so.
It seems our cash is slipping
Through the curse of frequent tipping
And the tippee, in the end,
Gets all our dough.

The tip is the defection
Not the tariff nor protection.
And so down with all
Who'd stain a party's fame.
The G. O. P. relievers
Bring to book those base deceivers.
Who are now consigned
To everlasting shame.

GIRL ARTISTS CAN BE PRACTICAL

Prove They Are as Capable as Men in Getting up Magazine Work.

By GERTRUDE L. MARVIN.

Times have changed.

All special licenses for artists to be impractical, whimsical butterflies are hereby revoked.

In proof of which, here is a story about three girl artists who are earning their livings with their nimble fingers just as prosaically as though they were darning socks. They are designers for a fancy work magazine. Every morning at 9 o'clock they perch themselves on high three-legged stools at their drawing boards and plunge into the mazes of intricate designs for embroideries on linen and lingerie and dresses and all the things that women like to fuss over.

After lunch they stroll up through the shops on the lookout for new ideas, and then back to the sunny office, walled with big windows, to finish a design for an Oriental Hokah Tunic or something like that.

Working for Magazine.

Mrs. Ethelyn J. Morris, an attractive young Virginian, is the head of the department and has charge of the make-up of the fancy work pages of the magazine each month. Her assistants are Miss Alethea Warren, a Vermont girl, and Miss Lois T. Rice, a graduate of the Boston Museum Art School. Mrs. Morris also takes "piece work," as she calls it, from any one who sends in available designs. Mrs. Morris laughed when I asked her if she found all these young artists irresponsible and hard to manage.

"I believe designers and decorators are the more responsible members of the craft," she replied. "They have to make balanced designs. The two halves of any composition must be symetrical, and I guess that they apply this sense of balance in their own lives. Anyway I find them easy to work with.

"And the work itself is so delightful. So many people have to earn their living by drudgery that it is a privilege to work at day over something that you enjoy. And I guess anybody who has a gift for making designs and patterns enjoys fussing over them.

"There is no monotony in our work because we have to keep up with all the new varieties of embroidery just as soon as they are introduced, and all sorts of fancy work besides.

Satisfy All Demands.

"Of course the readers of one magazine have all sorts of tastes, some like knitting and crocheting, others prefer metal work and pyrography, and others stick to chinapainting. We try to keep an even proportion between them all, and have something new about each month. Just as soon as we let a month go by without some new pattern for china painting, letters pour in from all the china painters, asking what is the matter.

"Some of the letters we receive are amusing. Of course a great many are perfectly sensible. But some of them want advice, or directions about the wildest things. Here is a letter that just came today. The writer wants us to look up the original of some picture that is supposed to be somewhere in Boston and send him the shades of colors used by the artist, so that he can dist a copy of it himself. Imagine trying to match tints and shades of color by mail."

Mrs. Morris first began working for the Modern Priscilla as a young school teacher down in Virginia, when she used to send them designs by mail. Five years ago she came North for a six weeks' trial and they have never let her go back. She is enthusiastic over the opportunities for young artists, and says there is no lack of work for girls who can settle down to steady, practical work.

Hard Work to Win.

"There are not many magazines published in Boston," said Mrs. Morris, "but there are lots of other possibilities; picture frames and metal and silver and leather and wood work and book covers. If a girl

ANOTHER AFONG BOY AT HARVARD

C. W. S. Afong of the wonderful Afong family of Hawaii arrived at Harvard today. He is the second Afong youth to enter the university.

C. W. S. Afong is a grandson of the famous old Chinese merchant, Wing Ah Fong, who married a girl of Columbia descent, acquired wealth estimated at $20,000,000, and brought up a family of thirteen girls and two boys. His lifestory reads like a four-volume novel.

Wing Ah Fong was a poor coolie when he arrived in Honolulu in 1865. He opened a little trading store and grew rich with amazing rapidity. In 1872 he returned to China, taking his eldest son. No explanation was given for his departure. He never returned. He died in China fourteen years later.

Mrs. Ah Fong, with name changed to Afong, stayed in Hawaii. She brought up her thirteen girls and she remaining son in luxury. Each girl made a splendid marriage. One became the bride of Captain Whiting, U. S. A., later Rear Admiral Whiting. Another married C. H. Heusdall, a San Francisco attorney. A third became the wife of James D. Brewster, scion of the old Bay State family of that name.

Daughters Well Married.

Others made equally good matches. Each daughter received a wedding portion of $150,000 in cash, stocks or real estate. All were highly attractive girls, with the piquancy of the Oriental mingling with the up-to-date nature of the Occident.

In 1903 A. S. Afong, one of Wing Ah Fong's grandsons, came to Harvard for a special course.

C. W. S. Afong, the second member of the family to come to Harvard, arrived in New York on the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinz Wilhelm, accompanied by Kon P. Tseh, a full-blooded Chinaman.

It was noticed by passengers that C. W. S. Afong is a most liberal spender. With millions at his command, he will be no mean rival of the sons of American bankers and trust magnates.

His first experience in America was to run foul, though innocently enough, of our customs regulations. He bought a bracelet in Paris and gave it to the ship's steward to mail. The steward attempted to mail it in Hoboken.

Ran Into Customs Man.

A customs officer stopped him on the pier. The steward made no effort to conceal his intention and explained that he was mailing the package for Mr. Afong. The latter said he had no intention of depriving Uncle Sam of his just dues. An inspector went along to see that the package was actually mailed.

He addressed it to Miss Iris Young at Hongkong.

"Is Miss Young your fiancee?" Mr. Afong was asked.

He smiled blandly and replied: "Would that be news?"

But he didn't answer the question.

MALCOLM HURD WEDS TO-NIGHT

Malcolm Hurd, son of Edward P. Hurd, the millionaire vice-president of the United Shoe Machinery Company, and Miss Beatrice Church, a Newton nurse, will be married at 8 o'clock to-night in the St. John's Episcopal Church in Newtonville, in spite of the opposition by the groom-elect's father.

Mr. Hurd, senior, who is under settlement with several other magnates of the shoe machinery trust, for alleged violation of the Federal anti-trust law, did not want his son to marry Miss Church, and to show his disapproval of the match took the unique course of stating his objections in a paid advertisement in a Beverly newspaper. In this advertisement Mr. Hurd said he had ordered his son not to send invitations to his own family, and to family friends, and that as young Mr. Hurd had not regarded the request, everybody asked to the wedding could attend or stay away as suited their inclination.

WIDOW ACCUSES BRADLEE FENNO

A lawsuit of an unusual nature was filed today in the Suffolk Superior Court by Mrs. Mary S. Murphy asks for damages of $10,000 from H. Bradlee Fenno as result of the death of her seventeen-year-old son, William. Mrs. Murphy is a widow. She claims that her son died in a hospital on June 3, 1909, as the result of "either wrongfully and unlawfully administered to him." She alleges that on the morning in question her boy left his home for work, apparently in good health and so far as she knew sound in body. She says that later in the day the defendant met her son and "wrongfully and unlawfully advised, induced and persuaded him to go, without the previous knowledge or consent of his mother, to the hospital for treatment."

She says that Fenno "wrongfully and unlawfully led her boy to the hospital and there and unlawfully made arrangements for treatment upon him."

Mr. Fenno lives at No. 450 Beacon street and is well-known in Boston society. He is wealthy and belongs to the Somerset, Tennis and Racquet and other clubs.

TURKS SURRENDER CITY OF TRIPOLI TO THE ITALIANS

WHITE FLAG RUN UP AFTER CANNON REDUCED FOR TS TO RUINS.

the offing to steamed to prevent the Italian fleet being surprised by Turkish warships.

Wreck Governor's Palace.

The first shot was fired by Admiral Aubrey's flagship, the Giuseppe Garibaldi. The shot struck the governor-general's palace almost reducing it to ruin. The two Turkish forts immediately replied. The Turkish gunners were evidently excited, for their shots all went wide.

The battleships Ariete and Francesco Sentinambo drew forts steadily for an hour, while the Turks kept up an incessant reply. Shells from the Varese wrecked a lighthouse which stood sentinel over a dangerous reef and the tower collapsed.

Word was received here today that Vice-Admiral the Duke of the Abruzzi had begun a bombardment of Prevesa. This carried the war into Turkey, and it is feared that this act will result in trouble with Austria.

A report came from Constantinople today that an Italian warship had fired upon and sunk a steamer carrying the Turkish flag, off Hodeidah. The British consul, the dispatch said, had made the charges to-day.

This news startled Rome. It is feared that complications with England may ensue if the report proves true. It is believed here that if an English boat was sunk by an Italian warship it was a blunder, for which this government would make any reparation demanded.

Munitions of War Captured.

Earlier in the day it was reported that a British ship, the Sheffield, carrying half a dozen Turkish officers and a lot of munitions of war, had been held up by an Italian warship and that the Turkish officers were taken prisoners and the munitions of war captured.

Another report from Corfu also tells about the capture of a steamship flying the British flag. It says that the naval force off Prevesa took captive a steamship flying the British flag which had on board 170 soldiers and six guns.

This same dispatch reported that the Italians at Prevesa had captured two Turkish transports. The transports were also said to be flying the English flag.

Report Turkey Will Yield.

Following the report to-day that Tripoli had fallen and that the Italian flag floats over that city was the news from Constantinople that the Sultan's advisers, discouraged by failure of appeals to the Powers, have prepared to yield Tripoli. Italy will pay a reasonable compensation and also agree to a suzerainty by the Sultan.

This latter condition would be of no practical effect, but would help the Sultan save his face in the Mohammedan world.

The Vatican has made it plain that it wishes success to follow the Italian arms as a fight for civilization and the extension of the Christian church.

Italy Demands $12,000,000.

The great powers of Europe have been slow to step in at Turkey's suggestion to put an end to hostilities. It looks as though Turkey is to be allowed to meet her fate alone.

One report is that Italy will not lay down her arms unless Turkey surrenders Tripoli entirely and pays Italy $12,000,000.

The news of the fall of Tripoli created great enthusiasm throughout Italy. Patriotism never ran so high as it does now. Every man and boy of Italy is eager to enlist in the war, which has taken on a sacred character since it has received the blessing of the Pope.

The Tribuna, the official government newspaper, says that the bombardment of Tripoli began yesterday. Before Admiral Aubrey began to fire he gave notice to Mgr. Isoretti, the apostolic prefect of the Roman Catholic Church there, and a few Franciscan monks who refused to take advantage of offers to board transports and escape.

The natives retired to the interior, carrying with them by caravans of camels Mauser rifles in addition to 12,000 guns landed from the transport Derna on the recent visit here. It is evident that the Turkish plan is to arm the Arab tribes for guerilla warfare.

Widespread anger has been freely expressed in the Italian press on account of the condemnatory attitude of the English press toward Italy's conduct in the present situation.

The Tribuna pleads editorially to-day that Italy's was forced to act and that her action benefits the cause of peace and contributes to the renewal and rejuvenation of Turkey by removing causes for international conflicts.

It concludes by saying that Italy will not stint in moral and material compensations to Turkey and will be ready to shorten the crisis which she strove to prevent, provided her object be fully accomplished.

Cruisers in Aegean Sea.

Italian cruisers in the Aegean Sea which are entrusted with the task of watching the Turkish fleet report that the Turkish fleet had entered the Dardanelles in deceptive, as at Samos the Turkish vessels separated from each one going in a different direction in order to escape the vigilance of the Italians.

Admiral Aubrey, the Italian naval commander-in-chief, has re-enforced the vessels already watching between Greece and the island of Crete, between the latter and Crete and between Crete and the African coast.

A dispatch from Malta to the Tribuna says a steamship which arrived last night reported that the Turkish transport Derna had been shelled and sunk off Tripoli. The dispatch does not state in regard to the Derna what she had been captured by the Italians.

Since the declaration of war Italy has captured fifty-seven Turkish vessels. Turkey has taken three Italian boats.

In consequence of the capture by Italian warships of a steamship carrying Turkish troops and munitions of war a prize court will be established.

Report Prevesa Is Bombarded.

Reports received here to-day from Corfu stated that the Italian war fleet under Vice Admiral the Duke of the Abruzzi opened fire upon the city of Prevesa on the Albanian coast between 9 and 10 o'clock last night at the expiration of an ultimatum which had been issued to the Turkish commander of the city.

According to the advices, the Italians demanded the surrender of two Turkish destroyers and a Turkish gunboat lying damaged in the harbor there, and that the Turkish commandant refused.

These reports did not state the amount of damage done to the city or whether or not the Turkish commander finally surrendered.

Despite Turkey's assurances in Greece that she has only friendly intentions toward that country, because since up to-day that 50,000 Turkish soldiers will be concentrated on the Island of Crete, Greece is preparing to defend herself.

A Constantinople dispatch says that the Russian Ambassador had an interview to-day with the Grand Vizier, which is meeting yesterday between the Austrian Ambassador and the Grand Vizier.

It is questionable whether Said Pasha will be able to remain in office another day. Halil Pasha, the Minister of the Interior, insists upon the acceptance of his resignation, but the Grand Vizier wants him to accept another portfolio. Fresh efforts have been made to prevail upon Hilmi Pasha to take the Ministry of Interior.

An Irade nominating the new Ministers has, however, been prepared, and after its issuance the new cabinet will send either a note to the powers or a circular to the Ottoman Ambassadors, setting forth precisely Turkey's point of view in the war with Italy.

A large number of volunteers, both soldiers and sailors, well officered, left here to-day for the Dardanelles, where the larger portion of the fleet is awaiting orders. Two battleships, the Mesjidieh and the Assar-I-Tewfik, and the torpedo cruiser Berki-i-Satvet, were sailed from the Golden Horn to join it. No coal, petroleum, or other fuel is allowed to be sold without the Government's permission.

An influential member of the Committee of Union and Progress stated to-day that he realized that Turkey had been forced by untoward circumstances to submit to the Italian proposal to evacuate Tripoli, but account must be taken of the fanaticism of the people and a show of resistance must be made.

At present there are only ninety-three deputies in Constantinople, a number insufficient for a quorum, but as soon as the requisite 140 members arrive the Chamber will be convened.

The German consulate is stormed by anxious Italians who are asking for passports that will permit them to leave the country. Yesterday 600 left this city, and to-day the Consulate still had 6,000 applicants with whom to deal. Those remaining are subjected to heavy taxes.

Church Gives Her Martyrs to Cause of Religion, Says Pope

By EDWARD C. STRUTT.

ROME, Oct. 4.—It has been learned that the Pope has a keen interest in the Italian expedition of occupation, and has ordered the Catholic missionaries at Tripoli to remain at their posts. In announcing this order he said:

The church is still able to give her martyrs to the cause of civilization and religion.

Cardinal Rampolla has returned to Rome from his Swiss holiday. His Eminence further emphasized the papal attitude by saying:

The Vatican cordially wishes success to the Italian expedition to Tripoli in the name of civilization and religion. It must be recalled as a historical coincidence that Monday was the anniversary of the naval battle of Lepanto, when the Mohammedan power in Europe was turned back by the defeat of the Turkish armada by the Venetian and papal forces.

TURKS GET LITTLE SYMPATHY FROM BIG POWERS OF EUROPE

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 4.—It is understood that Austria has given a guarantee to Turkey that the status quo in the Balkans will be maintained.

The Austrian Ambassador had a long interview with the Grand Vizier, and it is announced that the Russian Ambassador will visit him to-day, but it is questionable whether Said Pasha will be able to remain in office another day. Halil Pasha, the Minister of the Interior, insists upon the acceptance of his resignation, but the Grand Vizier wants him to accept another portfolio. Fresh efforts have been made to prevail upon Hilmi Pasha to take the Ministry of Interior.

An Irade nominating the new Ministers has, however, been prepared, and after its issuance the new cabinet will send either a note to the powers or a circular to the Ottoman Ambassadors, setting forth precisely Turkey's point of view in the war with Italy.

Turkish telegrams report that an Italian warship has sunk two motor boats near Hodeida, a seaport on the Red Sea, and has pursued the Turkish destroyer Peikhierket.

Replies to the Porte's appeal have been received from most of the powers, but as was expected, they afford little satisfaction. In effect, the powers say that they will be unable to offer mediation until the Porte suggests a basis of settlement on the lines of the Italian demands set forth in the ultimatum.

A large number of volunteers, both soldiers and sailors, well officered, left here to-day for the Dardanelles, where the larger portion of the fleet is awaiting orders. Two battleships, the Mesjidieh and the Assar-I-Tewfik, and the torpedo cruiser Berki-i-Satvet were sailed from the Golden Horn to join it. No coal, petroleum, or other fuel is allowed to be sold without the Government's permission.

An influential member of the Committee of Union and Progress stated to-day that he realized that Turkey had been forced by untoward circumstances to submit to the Italian proposal to evacuate Tripoli, but account must be taken of the fanaticism of the people and a show of resistance must be made.

At present there are only ninety-three deputies in Constantinople, a number insufficient for a quorum, but as soon as the requisite 140 members arrive the Chamber will be convened.

The German consulate is stormed by anxious Italians who are asking for passports that will permit them to leave the country. Yesterday 600 left this city, and to-day the Consulate still had 6,000 applicants with whom to deal. Those remaining are subjected to heavy taxes.

REPORT THAT BRITISH STEAMSHIP HAS BEEN SUNK BY ITALIANS.

Mehmed Pasha, son of Sheikh Abdel Kader, the last Algerian sovereign, has asked the Sultan to allow him to return to Tripoli for the purpose of rousing all the Mussulmans in Africa to repel the Italian invasion.

Two Russian steamers with Turkish steamships, have stopped at Suez, as they do not dare to continue up through the Mediterranean.

Stomach Sufferers Squander Millions

In Search of Relief.

The world is full of disordered stomachs and 99 per cent. of the money spent upon physicians and drugs goes in an attempt to cure the stomach.

People are made to believe that in order to gain health they must doctor their stomachs and use cathartics. So the doctor gets his fee for the stomach treatment and the druggist his profit, and the savings of a lifetime are exhausted and yet no cure.

Let's be reasonable.

The sick stomach is in every case the result of over-eating, hurried mastication and improper choice of foods. The moment lining all the way down the food tract loses its sensitiveness and when food is forced down the muscles fail to respond. They do not churn the food as they should. The glands no longer give out gastric juice to dissolve the food and render it capable of assimilation. The man has become a dyspeptic.

There is one sure way and only one to bring positive relief. Put into that stomach of yours the very elements that it lacks to get that food into liquid form. It takes pepsin, diastase, golden seal and other ferments to accomplish this. The healthy stomach contains these elements. The dyspeptic stomach lacks part or all of them. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet is made up of just what the dyspeptic stomach lacks—Nature's digestives.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a medicine, not a drug, not a cathartic. They do not consist of anything but Dyspepsia and Indigestion, and such ailments as arise from poorly digested food.

While they digest the food the stomach recuperates. The mucous membrane is coming out of its stupor. The gastric juice is coming to the surface, the muscles are regaining their power. Every organ of the body takes on new life, the skin gains color, and the eyes are no longer tinged with yellow. Health!

Why doctor and why drug yourself? Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will take care of your food while Nature cures you.

Try a box at your druggist's, 50 cents. Or, if you prefer a free trial package before buying, send your name and address to-day. F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Most People Have No Right to Be Sick

Do you know that the reason most people are sick is because they don't know how to breathe?

This may appear to be a very broad statement, but if you will only look around you and observe how many people walk with round shoulders and sunken chests you will begin to wonder, if they are not sick, how long it will be before they are.

Prof. CHAS. MUNTER'S NULIFE

A Garment That Should Be Worn By Every Man, Woman and Child

Produces health by straightening the body, compelling deep and easy breathing with both lungs regularly without any exercise, efforts or loss of time to the wearer.

NULIFE keeps you well by keeping your lungs expanded to their fullest capacity. It is round shoulders and sunken chests that cause disease. You cannot breathe properly.

NULIFE makes you always stand, sit and walk erect naturally and keeps you there without your personal attention.

NULIFE is nothing more than a thin piece of cloth, light as a feather, strong as steel and washable. Put it on, pull the belt and the garment does the rest.

Congressman William B. Wilson of Pennsylvania, former International secretary of the Miners' Union; Congressman Redfield of New York, and Congressman Tilson of Connecticut, comprising a special committee appointed under a special act of Congress, introduced by Congressman Pepper of Iowa, calling for an investigation of the so-called Taylor system of shop management at the Watertown Arsenal and the Fork Island Arsenal, Iowa, met today in the Board of Directors' room, Chamber of Commerce building. LAST RITES FOR FATHER SUPPLE

Hundreds of Charlestown people, unable to secure admission to St. Francis de Sales Church, in that district, stood outside in the rain today during the funeral mass for Rev. Michael J. Supple, who for forty years had labored in the parish, and for a long time had been its pastor.

The church was thronged with parishioners and members of the clergy. Archbishop O'Connell and one hundred and sixty priests were present, and Mayor Fitzgerald and District Attorney Pelletier were among the public officials who attended.

RICH AUTOIST HELD FOR DEATH

WORCESTER, Oct. 4.—Paul F. Taylor, the richest young man in Worcester, is under arrest in bail of $2,000 on two charges of manslaughter in skewsplng an auto in Marlboro and causing the deaths of Patrick Sullivan, who was in business at No. 1218 Washington street, Boston, and Frank Downes of Mattapan. The arrest has caused a sensation here.

The police are keeping secret the names of two other young men and two young women who are said to have been in Taylor's auto at the time of the fatal accident. They will probably be called to testify at the inquest, which will be held in a few days.

Taylor's father, Ransom S. Taylor of No. 6 Oak street, gave bond for him. The father is heir to a $3,000,000 estate left him a few years ago and is the largest real estate owner in Worcester. He also owns property worth $1,000,000 in Newton.

Young Taylor is one of the best known young men in Worcester and has been an enthusiastic autoist for years. His high-powered car is familiar to all the autoists in that section of the State.

Taylor was arrested by Policeman Hugh McNiff of Marlboro, who came here with the two warrants.

The story which Taylor gave the police puts a different light on the affair from that given by other occupants of the wrecked auto. He said:

"We were returning to Worcester. We were not speeding. As I passed the other auto it struck a sandy spot and skidded against my car, the chauffeur losing control for a moment. He righted his machine and it shot toward the side of the road as I passed. But none of us thought there had been an accident, as such collisions are not uncommon. That was why we did not stop.

"I saw word of the accident in the papers, the following morning, my father was in the West at the time. He returned last Sunday. We had a talk with our attorney, ex-District Attorney George S. Frank."

EARLE OVINGTON IS TESTING CRAFT

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Earle L. Ovington, who will attempt to make the flight from coast to coast, for which William Randolph Hearst has offered a $50,000 prize, made numerous practice flights at Nassau boulevard in the air craft which he hopes to pilot from one side of the continent to the other. It is probable that Ovington will be obliged to devote all of this day as well as part of Thursday to further tests of his craft at Nassau boulevard, if he will make his start from Governors Island.

On the flight to the Pacific coast Ovington hopes to remain in the air continuously from five to eight hours.

"DUKE DE NEVERS" TO FACE BOSTON CHARGE

"Colonel Duke de Nevers," sometimes known as "Duke Philip de Clamecy," has been found at work as a draughtsman in a New York architect's office and Inspector Sheehan will be sent to bring him back to Boston to face charges of defrauding the Hotel Touraine out of a bill for a suite, and several score dinners and cashing worthless checks for $400 in Boston stores.

At the time of his disappearance in June the "duke" had a wife and three child living in Neponset. During his amazing career in Boston the "duke" is declared to have hoodwinked judges and city officials. Then he went to call upon Governor Pothier of Rhode Island.

PAINFUL TROUBLE WITH FINGER NAILS

Sometimes Three Fingers Without Nails at One Time. Began 25 Years Ago. No Permanent Cure. Began to Use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In a Short Time Nails Were Well. No Further Trouble.

"I have suffered from the same trouble (painful finger nails) at different periods of my life. The first time of its occurrence, perhaps twenty-five years ago, all my home remedies without getting helped. I asked my doctor to prescribe for me, but it was not for a year or more that my nails and fingers were well. The inflammation and suppuration began at the base of the finger nail. Sometimes it was so painful that I had to use a poultice to induce suppuration. After the pus was discharged the sore would go down until the next period of inflammation, possibly not more than a week or two afterwards. These frequent inflammations resulted in the loss of my nails.

"Perhaps ten years later, I began again to suffer from the same trouble. This time I tried various remedies, among them a prescription from a doctor of a friend of mine, who had suffered from a like trouble. This seemed to help somewhat for a time, but it was not a permanent cure, next tried a prescription from my own doctor, but this was so irritating to the sensitive, diseased skin that I could not use it. I began to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I had used the Cuticura Ointment previously on my children's scalps with good effect. I did not use the Soap exclusively, but I rubbed the Cuticura Ointment into the base of the nail every night thoroughly, and, as often as possible as I could. I had not used it but a few weeks before my nails were better, and in a short time they were apparently well. There was no more suppuration, nor inflammation, the nails grew out clean again. One box of Cuticura Ointment was all that I used in effecting a cure." (Signed) Mrs. I. J. Horton, Katonah, N. Y., Apr. 18, 1910. On Sept. 21, Mrs. Horton wrote: "I have had no further return of the trouble with my finger nails."

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 13D, Boston, for a liberal sample of each, post-free, with 32-p. book on the skin.

MAKE ATTEMPT TO BURN CHURCH

An attempt to destroy by fire the Polish church on Norton square, East Cambridge, was made early today.

The Cambridge police and inspectors from the State fire marshal's office are investigating the incendiary act.

This church is at the corner of Columbia street and Webster avenue. At 1:30 a. m. a passing pedestrian saw smoke issuing from basement windows. He gave an alarm. Firemen extinguished the blaze without trouble.

Later today it was found that screens were missing from two basement windows. The police were notified. They found indications in the basement that the blaze of a few hours before set. They also found that the vestry on the main floor had been ransacked. Priestly robes had been stolen. Search had evidently been made unsuccessfully for the silver service used by the church.

Investigation was begun. The theory was at first favored that the church was set on fire to cover up the robbery of another theory, now adopted, is that someone wished the destruction of the church and that the robbery was only a part of the general scheme of vandalism.

MANY HUNTING FOR GLOVER BIRTH DATE

The officials of Boston's registry of deeds worked for several hours in an attempt to find the record of the birth of Clarence Glover, the murdered Waltham laundryman. The search was made at the request of Mrs. Glover, who supposed it the register, and together with the registry officials pored over the birth records for the city for a long time. During the past week several other persons have called the registry on the same request.

INTEREST GROWS IN BIG CARNIVAL

The great Columbus Night Water Carnival and Motor-boat parade, which will be held in Charles River basin on the evening of October 12, by the AMERICAN to help in lowering the great city coroner, has aroused great interest in Boston and adjoining cities and towns. The enthusiasm manifested in the affair augurs well for its success.

How can I enter my boat? This is one of the questions asked. How much does it cost? That's another. Both questions are easily answered. All one has to do is to cut out the coupon which will be found on this page and follow instructions. There is no entry fee. When you send in your entry also forward a photograph of your boat so it can be reproduced in the AMERICAN.

The committee in charge of the entries sends out the following notice:

Just One Word.

Don't delay in sending in your entry.

It's a big job to arrange the entries in classes and have the proper running schedule made out so that the half million people, whom it is estimated will see the carnival, can have a smooth-running, gorgeous spectacle without any unnecessary delays in starting. The way for the motor boat enthusiast to aid himself, as well as the AMERICAN, is to GET BOAT ENTRIES IN AT ONCE—TO-DAY.

That the carnival will be a tremendous success is an assured fact. The public will not have to spend one cent to see the carnival. It is gotten up for their especial benefit and with a view to popularizing the Charles River basin.

You can cooperate with the motor-boat enthusiasts by sending to the AMERICAN the name of a motor-boat owner and an entry blank will be mailed at once so that he or she can make an entry at once. Tell your friends about the carnival. Talk it up at the supper table, in the club, street car, passenger coach, depot, street, etc. Impress upon the minds of motor-boat owners the necessity of getting their boat entered. Tell them to get their entry in by the next mail. In that way you will assist the committee, help greatly in popularizing the basin.

Room For Everybody.

For the benefit of AMERICAN readers who have been asking how they can see the carnival, and whether they must stand on the shore or find a place on one of the bridges, here is the answer: Half a million can see the parade or carnival in comfort. The embankment along the route of the parade is less than twenty feet away along the entire course. People can stand ten feet deep in comfort and enjoy the parade. It will not be necessary to crowd one another. The incline makes it possible for one to see over another's head if necessary.

Many who have sent in their entries have asked: Can we do anything besides have our boats decorated? Can we have music on board?

Yes. That will add greatly to the fascination of the carnival. Hundreds of motor boats have phonographs. Some of the finest soloists, quartets and choruses in Boston are heard every Sunday in Boston harbor as the motor boats bring the waves on their trips homeward. Bring along the sweet-voiced soloists, the banjos and guitars, the quartets and choruses, and let's have the historic Charles ring as it never rang before with music on all kinds. Four bands will be distributed along the embankment and will play throughout the evening.

Class of Entries.

Prizes will be awarded to the most attractive appearing motor boats in the following classes:

Cabin boats, 20 to 35 feet in length.
Open boats, 20 to 35 feet in length.
Open boats, under 20 feet.
Cabin boats, under 20 feet.
Power dories.
Speed boats, any size.

Special prizes will be awarded as follows:

Most grotesquely decorated motor boat.
Best illuminated boat.
Best decorated boat.
Best decorated naval launch or power boat.
Best decorated boat, 35 feet or over.
Best containing most effectively costumed occupants.

Special prize to boat club which has largest number of entries. Fifteen boats from each club must enter to win this prize and the club must be a recognized organized association with a house.

Each of these boats will carry a number which will be prominently displayed on both sides of the boat so as to be visible to those on shore and those who will be in the centre of the basin.

All wishing to enter their boats in any of the classes will write to Carnival Manager, Boston AMERICAN.

Please give full name and address and class in which your boat is desired to enter.

There is no entrance fee required. Owners can enter their motor boats in the parade and competition for prizes absolutely free of charge.

BIG WINDLASS PLANT TO QUIT PROVIDENCE

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 4.—The American Ship Windlass Company announces it has decided to dispose of its plant here and remove the business to Philadelphia the early part of November. The company has been in business here for more than half a century, and its removal will affect about 300 employees. Ship machinery and automatic stokers are the products manufactured.

The Board of Aldermen has confirmed the appointment of Colonel Charles B. Nutter as Fire Commissioner of Malden, breaking the deadlock that had existed for nearly two years between the Aldermanic Board and Mayor Fall.

END MITCHELL CASE ARGUMENT

General Charles W. Bartlett, counsel for Mrs. Mitchell finished his argument before Judge Fessenden, in the double divorce suit of Edward W. Mitchell and Eva Fellows Mitchell, which has been heard during the past three weeks in the East Cambridge Superior Court. After the noon recess Attorney Thomas W. Proctor, counsel for Mr. Mitchell, began his argument. The case will probably be in the hands of Judge Fessenden by to-morrow morning.

Mrs. Mitchell was fashionably attired in a black tailor-made suit, a white waist and a large, black picture hat with a flowing white plume.

Mrs. Marie Fairbanks, named by Mrs. Mitchell in her cross libel, was also in court. She was dressed entirely in black.

General Bartlett in his argument said: "The Mitchells were very happy until Mr. Mitchell met Mrs. Fairbanks. They became infatuated with one another, it being mutual.

Mr. Bartlett laid great stress upon the secret door of a yacht club that was visited by the attorneys and judge yesterday.

In closing Mr. Bartlett said it was admitted that Mrs. Mitchell drank liquor, but Mr. Mitchell knew what he would. He stated Mr. Mitchell for not taking some steps to prevent his wife from drinking.

MARTIAL LAW AT M'COMB CITY

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 4.—Martial law has been declared in McComb city and State troops are to-day guarding the property of the Illinois Central Railroad, following the fierce battle between strikers and strike breakers, in which several were killed and many others wounded.

The battle took place in the railroad freight yards, and several hundred shots were exchanged.

A train bearing the strike-breakers had pulled down to the freight shed and was standing on a side track. More than 100 strikers immediately assembled and hostilities were started when a strike-breaker hurled a brick among the strikers.

ASKS DAMAGES FOR KILLING OF HUSBAND

Alleging that her husband was murdered as the result of a conspiracy between Valentino Susi and others, Mrs. Antonio M. Schiappi has brought suit for $20,000 against Susi in the Suffolk Superior Court, in which she asks damages because of the alleged murder. This is the first time in the history of the State that an action of this kind has been brought. It is alleged that the defendant conspired with one Salvatori Accomporo, alias Gidolimo Romano, Pasquale DiGeorge, Michael Accomporo and others unknown to assault, beat, batter and murder the deceased. Susi is now in jail awaiting trial on a criminal indictment.

TURKISH WAR IN SOUTHBRIDGE

SOUTHBRIDGE, Oct. 4.—As a result of the Turco-Italian war the Turks of this place have attacked the Greeks, and more than a dozen shots have been fired. As yet there have been no casualties.

Eight Greeks board at the house of Michele Frank of No. 35 Morris street. Late last night the house was attacked, presumably by Turks who live here. The Turks fired a fusillade at the house. The Greeks, not having any arms, did not reply.

It is declared by the distressed Greeks that four different attacks have been made on them by Turks. In one instance a Turk slipped into the house, and when the Greeks got in he opened fire on them. He didn't hit anybody. The man was chased out of the house and into the woods.

"SHERLOCK HOLMES" ORIGINAL IS DEAD

EDINBURGH, Oct. 4.—Dr. Joseph Bell, the famous Scotch surgeon from whom A. Conan Doyle drew his famous detective character, "Sherlock Holmes," died to-day. It was the reasoning and deductive methods of Dr. Bell impressed upon Dr. Doyle when he was a medical student that inspired the "Sherlock Holmes" stories.

CUPID FILES EXPENSE BILL

MERIDEN, Ct., Oct. 4.—After entertaining Miss Theresa Aichler for sixteen days at an average expense of 78 cents per day, Peter B. Hall now wants his money back. Presumably Miss Aichler has not responded to Peter's chocolate drop and ice cream wooing. He sues to recover $12.53 which, he declares, he expended from June 7 to 23 in escorting Miss Aichler about. Peter has filed a bill of particulars, so that there may be no flaw in his declaration. He lists several items as follows: "Trolley fare, 5 cents," and "soda, 10 cents."

Other items include: Ice cream—10 cents, meal at New Haven—63 cents, shore dinner—$1, chocolates—35 cents, supper at Hartford—90 cents, tip to waiter—25 cents.

Miss Aichler's friends, now realizing that Peter is serious in his suit to recover the $12.53, say that his effort to make a girl split the expense on a tip to the waiter is the crowning limit.

At last accounts a young man said to be named Juan Cupid and wearing any particular amount of clothing, was seen fleeing from this community with e'er-y agony.

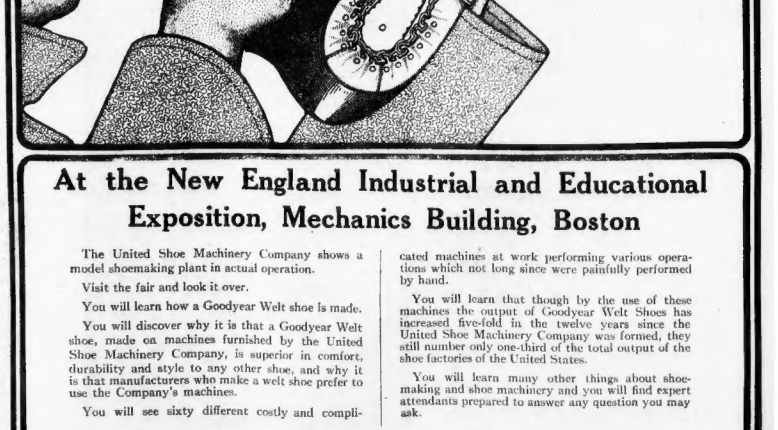
See the Wonderful Machines for Making Shoes



At the New England Industrial and Educational Exposition, Mechanics Building, Boston

The United Shoe Machinery Company shows a model shoemaking plant in actual operation.

Visit the fair and look it over.

You will learn how a Goodyear Welt shoe is made.

You will discover why it is that a Goodyear Welt shoe, made on machines furnished by the United Shoe Machinery Company, is superior in comfort, durability and style to any other shoe, and why it is that manufacturers who make a welt shoe prefer to use the Company's machines.

You will see sixty different costly and complicated machines at work performing various operations which not long since were painfully performed by hand.

You will learn that though by the use of these machines the output of Goodyear Welt Shoes has increased five-fold in the twelve years since the United Shoe Machinery Company was formed, they still number only one-third of the total output of the shoe factories of the United States.

You will learn many other things about shoemaking and shoe machinery and you will find expert attendants prepared to answer any question you may ask.

TENER SEEKING CAUSE OF FLOOD

AUSTIN, Pa., Oct. 4.—"Punish the men who were responsible for the destruction of our town and the death of our people—fix the responsibility and punish the guilty to the limit."

This was the demand made to-day to Governor Tener by survivors of the destruction of Austin by flood and fire.

Governor Tener, who arrived unexpectedly from Harrisburg last night, under a personal investigation of the ruins to-day, accompanied by State Health Officer Samuel G. Dixon, who has charge of the relief work.

The Governor expressed keen regret over the disaster and personally assured the surviving townspeople that he would do all in his power to see that the guilty, if found, would be punished.

It is announced that if the findings warrant, arrests will be made. On the other hand, if civil suits for damages are justified they will be instituted. All suits will be pressed vigorously.

Forty bodies have been located and approximately forty are missing.

SUCCESS RECIPE BY ROCKEFELLER

CLEVELAND, Oct. 4.—"Don't change—just stick to one thing until you succeed at it."

With this parting precept, John D. Rockefeller waved a final farewell to the party assembled on the platform of the station to see him off. Then he joined Mrs. Rockefeller in the car "White Pines," chartered to carry them to Pocantico Hills for the Winter.

The main features of the departure were the oil king's new Fall derby, a driving rain and the arrival of the thirty-two trunks of the party from the Forest Hill Summer home in a large and very pedaan hay wagon.

The local newspapers published pictures of Mr. Rockefeller which were furnished by his multi-millionaire himself, his unprecedented action being inspired by his desire to avoid the squad of newspaper photographers who always lesser him on his annual departure for the East.

"How is Mrs. Rockefeller?" Mr. Rockefeller was asked.

"Oh, she's in pretty good health, thank you," responded the supposed sphinx, with alacrity.

"And yourself? You're feeling pretty well?"

"I should say I am. If you'd come out on the golf links and play a game of golf with me you'd think so," replied Mr. Rockefeller, smiling. "Say, I thought you fellows were not going to bother me this time," he continued.

When reminded that there were no photographers present he said: "Yes, that's so, and I'm very thankful. By the way, what a newspaper men go into journalism for? Do they hope through it to prepare for some other business?"

"I believe in sticking to one thing—don't change. The young man who works to make his fortune must pick out one thing and stick to it."

Evidently he had been thinking deeply on the problem of the rolling stone gathering moss, for he delivered this aphorism several times in varied ways. He was in an inquisitive frame of mind.

"By the way," he queried, "does that coat you're wearing keep out the rain? Take lots of exercise if you would keep healthy," he advised. "Walk, play golf, get all the fresh air you can. That's the secret of health."

SAUGUS WOMAN DIED IN FIGHT

Mrs. Camille Gianetti, who was slain in her home in the Saugus Woods on the afternoon of September 13, died in defence of her honor, according to Special Officer Joseph Cavagnaro, who testified to-day at the trial of Antonio Gianetti, a result of the dead woman's husband, in Judge Little's court in Saugus.

Cavagnaro swore that the prisoner made a verbal confession when he arrested him in the Charlesbank park in Boston, on the Wednesday following the murder. He spent several days in searching for the suspect in East Walpole, Braintree, and in the other towns where there are Italian colonies and finally got word that Gianetti could be found in Boston. He went to the Charlesbank with State Officer A. G. Wells and found the man waiting at saloon on a bench.

Waking him up, Cavagnaro accused Gianetti of the crime. This he denied, but later, according to the policeman's testimony, he admitted it, laying responsibility for the murder and also on the day of the murder. Finally he admitted being in the woman's house on the fatal day.

According to the policeman, the prisoner seized a stick and struck her insultes several times, whereupon the prisoner pulled out a long knife and in a frenzy stabbed her eleven times. She staggered out of doors and fell dead on the piazza of a neighbor's house several hundred feet away.

District Attorney Attwill of Essex County is the prosecuting official, while the prisoner is defended by Attorney Frank Zottoli of Boston. Dr. Herbert W. Newhall, associate medical examiner for the district, testified to performing an autopsy and finding that the fatal wound was a knife thrust in the heart.

WATERMAN TO LEAD AGAIN

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 4.—The Democratic State convention opened in Fay's Hall to-day with prospect of clashes between the machine and malcontents. A sharp contest was expected over the nomination for second place on the ticket. The executive committee of the State Central Committee calls for the delegates to support Aldrich A. Archambault of Warwick for Lieutenant Governor. He was the machine candidate for Secretary of State last Fall.

This year the State Central Committee lacks him for second place on the ticket. But friends of Senator Sumner Mowry of South Kingston declared, at the opening of the convention, that Mr. Mowry was entitled to be the running mate of the head of the ticket.

It was understood that the two South Kingston delegates were pledged to Mowry, also that other delegates from the southern part of the State were prepared to stand by South Kingstonite.

The machine was prepared to fight against the Mowry claims because, if the organization's policy was smashed in one particular, there was a possibility that other machine nominations might be contested.

It was believed that the platform drafted by the State Central Committee would go through without opposition.

But there was prospect of trouble, however, over election of members to the State Central Committee. An effort was made last year to change the party laws. This issue was scheduled to arise to-day.

WORLD UNREST BLAMED ON GOLD

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Winston Churchill adopted the theory that the increased production of gold was fundamentally responsible for the industrial unrest in his speech at Dundee.

Mr. Churchill also dealt with the international political situation, referring to the "strong tremor of unrest that had passed through the gigantic structure of fleets and armies which impress and oppress the civilization of our time," but pointing out how "States and governments to-day find themselves bound together interlaced and interwoven one with each other by a tenacious network of trade interests, of commercial transactions, of intercommunication, of reciprocal insurance and of friendly connection."

OH, SHAH! SAY SUFFRAGETTES

TEHERAN, Persia, Oct. 4.—A woman's Suffrage bill was introduced in the Persian Parliament by one Dowlah, a brave champion of women's rights. An acrimonious discussion followed and a free fight had begun, when the president, making himself heard with difficulty, declared that the bill was sacrilegious and against the teachings of the Koran, which distinctly says that women have no souls and in every way are inferior to man, and that a soulless animal cannot have the vote.

The House widely applauded him and threw out the bill.

The mere fact that such a bill was introduced into the Persian Medjilis at all shows that a great change has come over the minds of some of the leaders.

23 WOMEN VOTED FOR 19 CANDIDATES

SOUTH NORWALK, Ct., Oct. 4.—Twenty-three women had the right to vote for school visitors in the First District. There were three candidates on the ballot—Republican, Democratic and Prohibitionist. The twenty-three women voted for nineteen different persons. In another district one woman voted for every office and lost her vote.

They contain every merit that the Remington has always had and every merit that any writing machine has ever had.

They contain, in addition, new and fundamental improvements that no typewriter has ever had; among them the First Column Selector, the First Built-in Tabulator and the First Key-Set Tabulator. The Model 11 with Wahl Mechanism is also the First Adding and Subtracting Typewriter. These improvements are the latest contributions to typewriter progress, and they are Remington contributions—every one.

The Remington, the original pioneer in the typewriter field, is the present day pioneer in all new developments of the writing machine.

Autobiography of Admiral Schley

It is the dramatic life of one of our greatest fighting men.

But more than that—

It is history, the real inside "history of the United States Navy since the Civil War."

Admiral Schley has passed beyond gig rules—"Startling truths, never before made public, are set forth boldly and with a vivid touch."

Admiral Schley completed this autobiography just before his death. It is his final answer to his critics.

A great timely feature in the greatest magazine—

COSMOPOLITAN

TAKING OF EVIDENCE IN EDDY WILL CASE CLOSED BEFORE JUDGE MORTON

The taking of evidence in the new fight over the will of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy was completed to-day in the Supreme Court, Attorney-General Swift, who is making an effort to have the big inheritance tax of Mrs. Eddy come to Massachusetts instead of New Hampshire, where the original will was probated, declared that Newton was the legal domicile of Mrs. Eddy when she died and that the original will should have been probated in Middlesex County.

The will was probated in Concord, N. H., and a copy was filed in Suffolk County. There is a contest now on in Concord over the provisions of the will.

It was admitted by those interested that the present fight to have the will probated in this State will undoubtedly go before the full bench of the Massachusetts Supreme Court for final decision. The present action is stated as being merely to get testimony on record from those most intimate with Mrs. Eddy before she died as to her wishes regarding her domicile.

Mr. Fernald said that Mrs. Eddy's securities were kept in a vault in the First National Bank of Concord. To his knowledge they were still there. He said she had three savings bank books. He was questioned by Attorney Charles F. Choate.

Owned Many Bonds.

Q.—What did her securities consist of? A.—They were mostly municipal bonds. She had a few railroad bonds.

Q.—Were her copyrights there also? A.—They were in the State Capital Bank. She opened a personal account there in 1886 and always kept it.

Q.—Did you have anything to do with the Pleasant View estate? A.—I looked after it when she left Concord for Chestnut Hill. The place was very carefully kept in order. Even the rose and flower beds were planted and kept in order, and the walks were raked and kept in first-class shape. Even the lobsters was kept tied.

Q.—Was anything lacking there for immediate occupancy? A.—No. It was ready for her to return at any time.

Q.—Where were her business accounts kept? A.—They always remained in Concord.

Cross-Examined by Attorney-General Swift.

Q.—How was her business transacted when she went to Boston? A.—She sent word by mail.

Q.—Was the house at Pleasant View kept ready for occupancy? A.—Yes, entirely the same as a Summer home would be kept.

Q.—Did Christian Scientists from all parts of the country come there as if it was sort of a shrine? A.—No one was allowed on the grounds after she removed to Chestnut Hill except by my permission.

Q.—Before she left, A.—Mrs. Eddy had hosts of friends who came to see her.

General Frank S. Streeter was questioned by Attorney Choate. He said he was for a number of years Mrs. Eddy's personal counsel.

Q.—You know of her benefactions in Concord? A.—Yes. She gave away thousands of dollars for the fixing up the streets, especially State street, which went to St. Paul's School.

Q.—Did she give money to the firemen and postmen? A.—Yes.

Q.—Were these benefactions continued when she went to Chestnut Hill? A.—I am not sure.

Q.—Did you see her during 1906? A.—Yes, from the middle of February to the latter part of October.

Very Frail in 1907.

Q.—What was her appearance? A.—She was very frail fatality. In August, 1907, she spoke of her physical condition and said: "I am not strong." She asked me to put my hand on her arm. I did so. It was pitifully small. It seemed that I felt nothing but the arm bone.

Q.—What conversation did you have about her condition in Chestnut Hill? A.—It was in September, 1907, and in substance she said that the roof of the Atter ney General in this case was brought about by the ambitions of the tax commissioner's office to secure Mrs. Eddy's inheritance tax. He said that throughout the pendency of the original will in Concord, N. H., and the filing of a duplicate in Suffolk County there had not been a hand raised in protest.

Change of Domicile.

The fact that the will had been probated is cited as a reason that the will was presented in the proper place. He contended that a change of domicile necessitated the abandonment of a previous domicile. He declared that Mrs. Eddy had never abandoned Pleasant View, and that consequently she had not changed her domicile. He said that it was clear that Mrs. Eddy moved to Chestnut Hill for a variety of reasons, including desired changes in her Concord home and the fact that she wished to establish a daily newspaper in Boston. He declared that when she took her last ten words she was so worn and fatigued that she could not make any more than a return to Concord. He said her life had been a long and trying one, wonderful powers which she had shown up to her eighty-fourth year were ongoing then, and that even with her intended purpose to return to Concord she could not force herself to carry it out.

Judge Morton reserved his decision.

43,180 CASES IN MUNICIPAL COURT

The total number of cases handled by Boston Municipal Court for the court year ending September 30 was 43,180, according to the court report issued to-day. This is a decrease of 960 from the 44,140 cases handled in the previous year. Convictions had 31,358 cases for 1911, against 30,776 in 1910, and 30,398 for 1909. For 1911, against 2,287 for 1910. Results of trials by jury were practically the same. There were only eighty-five "splitting cases" in 1911, to 1910, but in the latter courts passed on 772 cases. Lord's day violations were followed up so sharply that the 1910 record of 193 cases jumped to 451 for 1911. Only two warrants were issued in 1910 for seizure of hypnotic drugs, but in 1911 there were eighty-three warrants.

ANOTHER DAY OF GLOOM PRESENTED BY WEATHER MAN

EXECUTORS SUE J. P. MAGENIS

James P. Magenis, former member of the Boston School Committee and a leading lawyer, has been sued in an action filed to-day by Michael H. Curley and John H. Casey, executors of the will of Eugene Lynch, formerly wealthy liquor dealer of Boston, who, together with his wife, was killed on the steamship Republic in a collision.

The suit is to recover on an alleged promissory note for $5,500, executed December 22, 1905, and made payable to Mr. Lynch by Mr. Magenis and Arthur H. Forbush. Mr. Forbush is also named as a defendant in the suit.

An attachment for $5,000 was placed on the property of the two defendants.

Related to Lynch.

Mr. Magenis is the husband of the niece of the late Mr Lynch. She and her children received the bulk of his fortune, estimated at $425,000. Mr. Magenis asked that an auditor be appointed to look into the property. This was opposed by Mr. Casey, but Judge Crosby of the Suffolk County Probate Court, appointed William H. Irish as auditor.

Mr. Magenis was not satisfied because the executors delayed in rendering an account of the estate. He also objected to certain charges made by Mr. Casey's law partner, in connection with the case.

In connection with the legal troubles that followed the death of Mr. Lynch, Mr. Magenis said:

Fond of Children.

"I know that Mr. Lynch tried to make a will in favor of Mrs. Magenis and our children. He had no children of his own and was very fond of mine."

Mr. Magenis is his sister's daughter, and was practically the adopted daughter of Eugene Lynch. She came to his house a child, and lived there the greater part of her life and he was all that a father could be.

She was married from his residence and we made our home with him for weeks afterwards until our present home was equipped. Shortly before going on his ill-fated trip he assured Mrs. Magenis that he had willed the great bulk of his property to her and her children."

STEAMSHIP IS HELD AS CHOLERA SUSPECT

The British steamship Kioto was held up at quarantine when she entered Boston harbor to-day because Dr. Francis X. Crawford, port physician, fears she may be a cholera carrier. When Dr. Crawford boarded the ship, which is from Calcutta and other far eastern ports, he was told by Captain Smith that a man had died shortly during the voyage. Dr. Crawford decided he might have been a cholera death. All hands, officers and crew, will be subjected to a bacteriological test. The Kioto will be held at quarantine until to-morrow, and perhaps much longer.

BISHOP SCHREHM IS INSTALLED AT TOLEDO

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 4.—The Right Rev. Joseph B. Schrehm of Grand Rapids, Mich., was installed to-day at St. Francis de Sales Cathedral as Roman Catholic Bishop of the Toledo diocese. Bishop Richter of Grand Rapids delivered the sermon. Bishop Farrelly of Cleveland the welcome address.

MAN'S INJURIES ARE MYSTERY TO POLICE

The Boston police tried to-day to solve the mystery of how William Heffron, forty-five, who gave his address as No. 92 Moody street, Waltham, whom they found in a dazed condition on Blossom street, in the West End, to-day, received his injuries. He was taken to the Relief Hospital with a severe scalp wound and a dislocated right shoulder. He said he fell down stairs, but could not tell where. The police, believing he may have been assaulted, have begun an inquiry.

MANY CALLERS AT FORD BRANCH

By J. C. KERRISON.

Since the publication of the full-page Ford announcements on Sunday last, the local branch of the company has been besieged with visitors, all of whom seem most interested not only in the readjustment of price, but likewise in the actual purchase of cars.

Manager Charles E. Fay said yesterday: "The announcement of Sunday seems to have produced conditions similar to those that have usually existed in the Spring. Yesterday and to-day has seen hundreds in the store, and we have done some good clean business—the great majority of the visitors coming with money in their fists seeking immediate delivery. We have done a surprising amount of business for this time of the year.

"The full effect of the announcement has not yet been felt, as every mail brings additional inquiries for 1912 catalogues, and the personal inquiries are constantly being made."

The company makes trucks of from one to ten tons. It is proposed to cover the distance between Washington and Boston at the rate of 100 miles a day and the truck will carry 6,000 pounds of freight and 1,000 gallons of gasoline. The freight will consist of a load of barrelled vinegar, consigned to a Boston firm.

Mr. Board will be spent in Baltimore, Md., the second night in Philadelphia, Pa., the third in New York, the fourth in Springfield, Mass., and the fifth and last in this city.

A. L. Westgard, the American Automobile Association's official pilot, is a civil engineer by trade and a mapmaker by specialty. All of it will be available for the use of each tourist. In fact, one will be able to tell at a glance every detail of highway which lies ahead. The graphic nature of the strip system will make the highway an open book, even to those who never traveled it.

MISS REPETTO, BRIDE OF ALFRED SCIGLIANO TO-DAY

MISS SABINA REPETTO

Representative Sciglianos of the North End wed at Immaculate Conception. The wedding breakfast being served in a tent to a large number of guests.

SCIGLIANO IS NOW BENEDICT

Many members of the Legislature today attended the wedding of Representative Alfred Scigliano and Miss Sabina M. Repetto at the church of Our Lady of Lourdes, Beechmont, Mr. Scigliano is from Ward 6—the "Beano" ward—and is very popular. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Francis Houston, a personal friend of the groom, of Hopkinton. Miss Emily Repetto, a sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Edward Scigliano, a brother of the groom, was best man.

After the ceremony in the church the couple and their friends went to the home of the bride, No. 843 Wintrop avenue, where a breakfast was served in a tent in the spacious yard of the home.

The charming bride and her brilliant husband were warmly congratulated. While they kept to themselves just where the honeymoon is to be passed, it was understood that Mr. and Mrs. Scigliano would leave Boston for Washington to-night.

There was a little romance in the lives of this couple and the course reads sometimes in novels. As boy and girl they fell in love. He waited for her at the schoolhouse door and carried her books home. Love looked out of the black eyes of the boy and it soon kindled a promising response in the black eyes of the girl. His friends say that it was this love light in his sweetheart's eyes that carried Scigliano's ambition to burn and landed him in the State House. There probably was no happier couple in the United States to-day than Scigliano and his bride.

FIGHT TO FREE FOUNDRY SLAVES

The fight to save the girl-slaves of the foundries has assumed such gigantic proportions that the defeat of every candidate who refuses to help do away with the dread evil is assured at the coming State election.

Churches, citizens' associations, women's clubs, and the great trade unions of the entire Commonwealth, are coming forward with promises to wage unceasing war against this degradation of American womanhood.

Following the graphic expose of vile conditions of employment among the women core-makers at the Blake-Knowles foundry at East Cambridge so fearlessly portrayed in the Sunday AMERICAN, a wave of indignation has swept the State from end to end.

John J. Fenton, vice-president of the Massachusetts State Branch of the A. F. of L. to-day declared he would introduce resolutions at a meeting of the executive committee of that organization in this city Sunday morning, looking toward the institution of a vigorous campaign against any candidate who refuses to sign the Faneuil Hall pledge.

Slavery Must Stop.

"This inhuman exploitation of women must stop," he declared in a special interview with the AMERICAN. "The fight being made to save the women foundry slaves is more than a mere labor question. It is the greatest moral issue of the day.

"A blow against the mothers of the race is a blow against civilization. Unless we force the discontinuance of this brutal practice of exploiting women in the foundry core-rooms, the still further degradation of the sex must follow.

"Wealth, social standing, party affiliations all sink into meaningless nothing when compared with one's duty toward oppressed womanhood.

The candidate for public office who refuses to promise to help save the women foundry-slaves commits political suicide. That is a foregone conclusion since the great indignation meeting held by the people at Faneuil Hall, Saturday night."

Girl's Startling Story.

The thrill of horror that ran through the State when the AMERICAN lifted the lid at the East Cambridge plant of the Pump Trust, and so vividly portrayed the actual conditions of employment existing among the women core-makers in that foundry, was added to the still further details contained in the simple story of Miss Rosalie Karchenka, a former employee.

This simple little Polish girl was called upon to do the most degrading manual labor while in the Blake-Knowles foundry. She had to lift such heavy burdens that her health finally became undermined. It is one of the saddest tales ever related, and corroborates in every particular the startling statements contained in the original expose as published exclusively in the Sunday AMERICAN.

The suit was filed to-day in the Suffolk Superior Court. Watson says that Miss Crabtree owes him at least $7,500, with interest from August 11, when he severed his relations with her. Miss Crabtree's property has been attached for $15,000.

In the papers filed to-day Watson says that he performed labor and services for and in behalf of Miss Crabtree in many important matters of business, in procuring tenants for valuable real estate which she owns, in performing all the duties of president of the Hotel Brewster Company, a corporation organized by Miss Crabtree, who owns practically all the stock in it. GLOUCESTER, Oct. 4.—Walter Arnold, brother-in-law of Hattie Le Blanc, and Thomas Curley, both of this city, were struck and seriously hurt by an inbound Boston accommodation train between Gloucester and West Gloucester at 7:15 to-day. They were walking on the track in the rain with umbrellas held close down over their heads. They did not hear the train. Each man was tossed across the outbound tracks. Arnold has a broken leg and cuts on both shoulders. Curley was severely bruised. Both were brought to the City Hospital.

Both are employed by the city gypsy moth department and were going to work in West Gloucester.

TALK OF GARFIELD AS PRINCETON'S HEAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Princeton University's presidential problem has entered a still more acute stage, and action is expected at the trustees' meeting on October 10. Those trustees who represent the policies advocated by Woodrow Wilson have been trying to pick a candidate who would be acceptable to their opponents. Several days ago they pressed Mr. James A. Garfield, president of Williams College, as the most available compromise candidate. Professor Henry B. Fine, dean of the faculty, was the favorite of one of the so-called Wilson trustees, while Dr. John Grier Hibben, professor of logic, was urged by a strong party composed of the anti-Wilson trustees and a few independents.

MAY FLOAT MAINE OUT OF COFFERDAM

HAVANA, Oct. 4.—An examination of the after section of the battleship Maine, comprising about one-third the full length of the ship, has convinced the engineers of the feasibility of building a bulkhead and floating it out of the cofferdam. The fitting of a bulkhead will be commenced as soon as the material for it is received from the North.

GOULD PAYS $250,000 FOR NEW YORK HOME

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—George Gould's son, Jay, paid $250,000 for the six-story dwelling, No. 1082 Fifth avenue, between Eighty-ninth and Ninetieth streets, in which he will reside. Young Mr. Gould married Miss Anna Douglas Graham last Spring. It was reported that he bought the house as a gift for his bride.

The Cost of Purity exceeds all other Costs in Schlitz Brewing

We spend more on purity—more time, more skill and more money than on any other cost in our brewing.

We sterilize every tub, vat, tank—we scald every barrel—every pipe and pump—every time we use it.

We wash every bottle four times by machinery.

The air in which the beer is cooled is filtered.

Every bottle of Schlitz is sterilized, after it is sealed, by a process invented by Pasteur.

Light starts decay even in pure beer. Dark glass gives protection against light.

The brown bottle protects Schlitz purity from the brewery to your glass.

If you knew what we know about beer, you would say, "Schlitz—Schlitz in Brown Bottles."

See that crown or cork is branded "Schlitz."

SEE END OF BOXING IN NEW YORK STATE BY GOVERNOR'S ACT

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

BATTLING NELSON IS BADLY BEATEN BY "KID" SAYLOR

SEE FINISH OF NEW YORK BOUTS

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 4.—The days of legalized boxing in New York State are numbered, according to reports which today emanated from several independent sources. It was learned from an apparently authentic source that if the Legislature fails to act on Governor Dix's appeal to repeal the Frawley law regarding boxing by commission, the Governor will appoint a new member to the commission to take the place of James C. Sullivan, resigned.

The proposed new member and Commissioner O'Neil, it is said, will constitute a working majority and vote to repeal every license given for boxing within the confines of the State, after which both will resign. According to the anonymous informant this will not affect successors, but will allow the commission to die a natural death.

Powerful New York city influence is believed exerted on the Governor to prevent such action.

CHANCE SEES TIGHT BATTLE

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Frank L. Chance, manager of the Chicago Cubs, who last year met the Philadelphia Athletics in a world's series and has just ended a long spectacular fight with the Giants, believes if New York wins the National League pennant the battle for supreme baseball honors is going to be anybody's fight. Here is what he says about the series:

"The series between the Athletics and the Giants for a world's championship this year is a toss-up. If I were a betting man, I would allow the other fellow to choose his team and take the other providing he gave me odds. That's how close it will be in my estimation.

"I figure the Giants will have it on the Athletics in the pitching. Bender is a great twirler. But Bender is not the man who can 'come back.' He is likely to go out and pitch a wonderful game in his first appearance of the series. But I do not believe that he can pitch as strong a game the second time.

"Coombs did not pitch a great game against us last year, and I have followed him rather closely recently. He has been winning his games regularly, but the other fellows have been making lots of runs when he was on the slab. This would indicate that he was not at his best.

"Coombs to win from the Giants must pitch better ball than he did against us. Otherwise the Giants are sure to defeat him, for they have a faster and, I think, a stronger club than the one which represented Chicago."

EASTERN POST-SEASON SERIES A FAILURE

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 4.—The Eastern League post-season series, which was suddenly called off, following the refusal of the Rochester team to play the game scheduled, has proved a complete failure, financially. The league will have to make good $1,200 expense money. The seven-teen players drew $100 each and the Rochester players $17 each.

Saylor Defeats Nelson in Fast Bout at Armory

By FRANK M. SMITH.

Milburn (Kid) Saylor of Indianapolis secured for himself a niche in the pugilistic hall of fame last night by defeating Battling Nelson in a twelve-round bout at the Armory Athletic Club. It was a terrible blow for the Hegewisch idol, for it sent him down a step in his climb back to the top of the ring. Nelson came back from an old fighter, but was not a worthy successor, but still allow the resemblance.

Nelson left the ring with a badly swollen and bruised countenance.

Slam Bang Affair.

Realizing he would have to win via the knockout route, Nelson rushed into his opponent in the ninth round with that "do or die" spirit which has won him many a battle. He failed to take into consideration "Kid" Saylor, for his ball-like rushes were stopped by a straight left to the nose which he did his utmost to bore in and do a little hooking on appear, but was beaten at tay by the onslaught of blows that rained about the head of the game Dane. He did succeed in getting into a clinch, but found his master, both at wrestling and lead battling.

During the first four rounds Nelson received a whipping that he will remember for several days. His head was battered continually and he was forced to attempt clinches to save himself further punishment.

During the entire fight Nelson did not show he had regained his eye for distance. Nine out of ten times he delivered a long range missed their mark entirely. Of course, he was not boxing a novice, for Saylor proved himself to be lightning fast on his feet and owned a cover-up system that baffled the former champion.

Saylor's great boxing and ability to hit hard should win him a place in the hearts of the Boston fans. He boxed a good cool battle and not until Nelson roughed it too hard with his head did the Indianapolis boy retaliate.

He stood it for two rounds and then started to do some of the work on his own account and as a result the Battler was forced to give ground. Thereafter Nelson was a little more careful.

Three Preliminary Bouts.

The semi-windup between Jeff Madden and Al Tiery, alias Jack Alton of Buffalo, was a speedy, proved a rough and tumble affair for eight rounds. Madden gained ground early in the battle and Referee Dennis mercifully ended the bout toward the end of the eighth round, awarding the decision to Madden.

The verdict in the second preliminary between Frankie Dolan of Lynn and Kid Thomas of Lawrence at 110 pounds was given to the latter in the fifth round. Thomas used a long left jab that kept him out of harm's way. A wicked right hand-and-body lay in Dolan's face and the bout was stopped.

Johnny Yaeger of Lynn also proved a match for Tommy O'Brien of Johnstown in their 130-pound bout, and the ball was tossed in the fourth session, the verdict going to the Pennsylvania lad.

KLAUS-MOHA TO MEET HERE

Frank Klaus and Bob Moha will clash in the main bout of twelve rounds at the Armory A. A. next Tuesday night. The ball should be a thrilling affair and will virtually decide who is the middleweight champion of the world.

When Stanley Ketchel was shot, Papke claimed the middleweight title. But Billy Papke went to America where he lost to both Dave Smith and Cyclone Johnny Thompson. Papke partially atoned for his defeat at the hands of Smith by knocking out the latter out when they met for the second time.

From Australia Papke went to England where he knocked out Jim Sullivan, middleweight champion of England. Papke then came back to this country and in his only bout since coming home, that against Sailor Burke, he made a miserable showing.

Klaus is a scientific fighter and is considered by many as being the greatest middleweight in the world. Moha recently showed at the Tremont street club against Billy Berger and easily won the decision.

"Young" Jasper is hot on the trail of the best 130-pound bets in New England. Jasper recently defeated Young Fox of Lowell and Young Fox, the latter, who manages Jasper, objects to this offer to-day and has following to say about his charge:

"Jasper is one of the best boys at his weight in New England. His defeat at the hands of Joe White at Woburn is no black mark on his record, for White is one of the best boys at the 130-pound weight in the New England ranks. Jasper was to weigh in at 135 pounds for the fight. When he arrived at the clubhouse he refused to get on the scales. The referee let Jasper go on was so as not to disappoint the large crowd."

"POP" ANSON LIKES THE GIANTS' CHANCES

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 4.—Captain Adrian C. Anson, the "grand old man" of baseball, leans a little toward his old love, the National League, in predicting the outcome of the coming world's championship between the Giants and the Athletics.

"I like the Giants a little bit better than I do the Athletics," said Anson. "But, at that, I would be willing to give odds of 10 to 8 to anyone that wants to bet and let him take his choice.

"Man for man, the averages might favor the Athletics, perhaps in that they are a little better balanced, but taken collectively the Giants have the shade in my estimation.

"I will go to the world's series to report the games for a news syndicate.

Boxing Results at Many Clubs

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Tommy Ginty, the lat Scranton, Pa., boxer, easily outpointed Bert Keyes of this city in a ten-round bout at the Twentieth Century T. C. last night. In splendid condition, Ginty boxed a fare form, making it quite troublesome ir Bert in many of the rounds. The liter accepted the engagement on short notice to substitute for "Kentucky" Brown, so, it is said, hurt his left hand last week. Despite his lack of condition, Keyes put up a good opposition.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 4.—In a fight which was full of action from the ist tap of the gong to the last, Tommy Gennan, the Frankford "Flash," won a ten-like verdict over Eddie Palmer, the lew Orleans fighting machine, in the windup at the Douglas A. C. last night. Coleman won through his excellent work in ts first, second and fifth sessions. In ese rounds he used a clever left jab to he face with good effect. In the second and he landed a right to the stomach hich shook the Southerner badly. The ird, fourth and sixth were Palmer's by a nall margin.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 4.—The schedl of eight-round bouts here last nights between Jack Harris and Tommy Murphy ended in third round, when the seconds of Murphy ued his manager into the ring while Murphy s in a helpless condition.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—George Bush failed to mb into the ring of Brown's gymnasium last ght to fight Jack Denning, as Jim Weir was ported to have done, paddling his own canoe, ed Dillon, Weir's manager, had Referee Kelly peter's certificate that he was unable to battle.

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Kid Henry of Troy and Young Loughran of Philadelphia settled eight, Tonight's card ended in the fifth round A. C. Town last night, and although no decision was given, the popular verdict was in favor of the Troy boy. Loughran, who had bested Henry in a previous bout here, was unable to stand the pace and wanted to die from thirst, Henry forcing the fighting on even terms in the fifth. The rest of the fight was in favor of the referee was Tony Bozzet Loughran in the seventh for the old knockdown of the bout.

KELLODY MEETS LEMOINE.

WEBSTER, Mass., Oct. 4.—Maurice Lemoine, the Webster welterweight, last night signed to meet Roger Kellody here the Portland Club Saturday night. Lemoine is training with Harry White in Brooklyn.

Golf Notes—News From the Links

Saturday golf at suburban clubs is proving very popular, and the attendance at the golf links is greater than usual. Some of the golfers are out to play at the ten largest clubs in the vicinity of Boston.

The Metropolitan golfers seem to have it pretty much their own way with the Essex County golfers. This contest has now been played for seven years, and Metropolitan has won six times. Massachusetts once, and Pennsylvania has yet to win its first victory.

One of the most consistent winners of the low gross honors in open competition is Arthur Lee, son of Frank Hunt of the Allston golf Club. Although among the younger players of the State, he has yet to find the player here whom he cannot defeat.

Thursday of this week the Women's Golf Association of Boston will hold its second annual tournament at the Winchester Country Club. The match will be played Tuesday play and will start at 9 o'clock in the morning. Those who went to the Belmont Spring Valley Club last Thursday report that the course is in fine condition for the tournament next Saturday.

George Duncan, the English professional who played at the Wollaston Golf Club not long ago, commented particularly on the layout of the new links and on the enthusiasm that he met at all of the golf clubs in which he played during his visit to Ireland. The greens at Wollaston pleased him and he was able to score three perfect holes on the putts from ten to twenty feet all the way around.

Although New York beat Massachusetts handily in the annual golf match between the two States last year when Massachusetts defeated New York and recovered the score for New York was 9 to 3, while Massachusetts in 1910 won 10 to 2. W. Whittemore showed his caliber as a golfer outside of the golfing player in the world as a match by defeating Fred Herreshoff, the runner-up in the National Amateur, by the score of 3 and 2. Among the Bay State players were Gardiner W. Williams, who won 3 and 2; R. R. Gordon and H. W. Stuckens and Sherry Wolf.

The open tournament at the Belmont Springs Country Club on Saturday, October 12, which was postponed on account of the storm, is said to have been under construction now for two years or more. It is expected that over 150 golfers will be entered among the players of this State who have been in the running for possibilities of Plum Summer and there will be a large field of players on hand for the first chance to play and pass judgment on the course.

"THAT done it," muttered the burglar, as his skin came into contact with a chair and overturned it. And he spoke the truth. It did do it. A sudden movement above a startled descent of stairs and Sixes found himself staring into a revolver.

"Now, then, hands up!" cried the householder. "What have you stolen?"

"Only your wife's pet dog," replied the burglar.

"If that's all, you may sneak out quietly," said the householder. "But you've got something besides that, you rascal!"

"Only your pocketbook, sir," pleaded.

"You don't say so. Here's some loose change for you. Anything else?"

"Yes, and the burglar. "Your daughter's phonograph."

"Good fellow!" exclaimed the householder, delightedly. "I only wish you could manage the grand piano, then I should have peace in my house at last! Still, of course, that can't be, but will you share a bottle of champagne with me before you go?"

Getting Ready to Move, Warren Does Not Even Pack His Books

"Move to see about moving," announced Della, briefly.

Helen who was clearing out the medicine shelf in the bathroom had put the day's mail on the table in one hand and a dust cloth in the other.

A man in a gray suit and a dusty derby had already stepped inside the hall and was looking around, inquiringly.

From the moving company, on making an estimate on coming your things here?" Helen smiled and bid the way that the sitting room. The man took a quick mental inventory of the furnishings.

No piano, he stepped into the front room.

No, tapestry piano.

Too much of a job because

Yes, that one lift—if

In the living room he examined the sideboard and the piano. All these things have to be taken apart carefully," making some notes on the pad in his hand.

"Oh, yes, I wanted some the rug at last. He is said anxious.

"Needs taken apart, too? Well, we'll have to be careful. We'll do the gang in a brief manner into the kitchen.

"Thirty Dollars for Moving

"Oh, no, that belongs to the house. "Then this is all of it? Just the seven rooms?

Yes, sir.

"Well two trips will take it. Fifteen dollars for the job.

"Thirty dollars, it will be as much as that."

"That's more than I expected, but if it's worth it—why, all right. This will be three weeks time Saturday?

"Make it sooner if you can. We'd like to get settled in our new apartment before the baby arrives."

"Oh, I see. I suppose that's why Mr. Warren at the office is to his home so late."

"Fifteen a ride. That's pretty stiff," he commented.

"The rest of the day Helen spent packing the china silver and bric-a-brac she had sent around to the grocery for some empty cartons and excelsior.

But every package and article that was taken from its place caused her a pang. She couldn't realize that these things—that new apartment. Everything here had been either a wedding present or bought for some particular place in these rooms. Each piece of furniture seemed to belong to its special nook. They could not even be arranged so well anywhere else.

And yet Warren's determination to move had not wavered. Outside rooms and more air than was now theirs was desired to have, even though the house was less attractive and the neighborhood not so good.

"We're not going to get all that shelf full in this barrel," announced Della, as she wrapped a gravy tureen in a newspaper and carefully tied it in

Troubles of Packing

"Yes, I know. But we'll have room for some of these with the cut glass, oh, I'm just going to use paper around that. I don't know what Mary can do. I suppose we ought to have had the men pack this way, and gave. But guess costs. Then you see we can do it as well. I think we can do it just as well."

Sure we can ma'am. I helped Mrs. McGarry more three years ago last May, and she had five barrels of china and three of a glass and no a piece broken.

When Warren came home to six the place was in all the disorder and confusion of packing.

"Well how is it coming on," as he surveyed over some rugs that had been rolled up to keep them from being littered by packing.

"Not very fast." Helen brushed her hair back wearily. "I have to help Della packing."

"Oh, well you've got plenty of time—another whole day.

"You'll pack your books and papers to-night won't you dear?"

Books what? I said this morning wasn't the time to take a note of importance.

"Now, I'm up, I we're going out to dinner."

Helen took off her apron and started to the bathroom. "I'll be ready in a jiffy. There's the box over in the corner. Please don't make if you want to put any of them in with I dress."

"Now just leave that to me. I said I'd pack them to-night but I'm not going to do it before dinner."

A little later they were seated in a restaurant a few blocks before. From now on they were settled in their new apartment they would have to dine out. Helen who was almost too tired to eat, leaned her elbow on the table and her head on her hand and gazed abstractedly at the salt shaker before her.

"We've got here to pack that big grand piano yet. And the candelabras.

"Oh, I'll get over after.

"Look here—you're to eat your dinner. Let the packing go until you get

Something Forgotten

Two several moments Helen ate in silence. Then she looked up with a sudden, Mr. Warren do you know what we've forgotten?

"If

"We haven't seen about having the gas turned off at the new place.

"Oh, I'll easy. I'll phone about it to-morrow.

And so I must tell the milk man and the ice man and the paper boy and give the mail forwarded. We mustn't go to sleep until the very last."

"We for heaven's sake, let up on it

As they left the restaurant, Warren paused at the corner.

"I'll just go down to the new place—a few minutes to see how they're getting along with the papering."

Helen hesitated. "Oh, dear, I'm so tired, and there's so much more to do. And you've got your books to pack.

"See here how many times do you want me to tell you that I'll pack those books to-night?"

"Oh, dear I was only saying it would save us so late at

"We'll make no late at all. We can get there in forty minutes. Come let's get a car now."

Mrs. Warren opened the door of the car and they were greeted by a shout of joint. He turned on the lights in the hall and front room. The walls had been partly scraped and one side of the room was repapered. Several rolls of can of paint, some brushes and soiled rags were on the floor in the corner. Rolls of wall paper were piled up by the mantel, against which leaned a ladder.

"Oh, they're not nearly through, exclaimed Helen, who was hoarding her slowly about her so as not to touch the wet paint

"Yes they are finish up to-morrow."

Packed One-Third

He was exploiting the other rooms, turning on the lights as he went. Helen followed carefully stepping over torn strips of wall paper and some boards on the floor.

There is nothing more cheerless than empty rooms in the process of painting and papering. And Helen could not throw off a feeling of depression at the breadth of living here. A real sense of home sickness for the apartment they were leaving possessed her.

"Well how do you like it?" asked Helen quickly slipped into a new dress and started to the door.

"Now here are plenty of newspapers if you would tie your books before you put your books in. No wait. I'm like it for you."

She careful s assembled the papers in the bottom and over the top of the case.

"There now," dragging it up to the book case. "Will that do?"

"Yes, that will do very well," she said, the books and I'll lower shelf and there I can put the boxes in the dining room for the rest.

Warren took off his coat and plunged bravely into the task. Book after book. When the box was about one third full, there was a sudden "Why, I've got to do it after all. I'll be up until 1 o'clock to-night. I'm going to do it. I've got to be at work at the office in the morning and I'm going to bed. I can't afford to feel around here I need the rest."

CURSES! I'M FOILED! I'M SWITCHED ON TO ANOTHER TRACK AND THE LOVERS SEE ME. CURSES!
'TIS DESMOND HE MEANT TO MARM US. DEAR LOVE, I SHOUT FOR THE TRACTOR
CURSES! I WILL FOIL YOU YET, AND ROSAMOND MUST BE MY WIFE IN SPITE OF ALL. HA, HA!
YES, GENERAL HE IS A VILLAIN AND HE IS TRYING TO STEAL FAME FROM CLAUDE AND ROSAMOND WHOM I LOVE ONLY CURSES! CURSES!
YOU WILL BE DROPPED FROM THIS BALLOON DESMOND, AND BE PIERCED ON THE PINNACLES OF THE CITY BELOW!
HORSFIELD

In his sedan chair, which shoots down the snowy surface of the mountain like a runaway freight train, Desmond is rejoicing over the imminent destruction of the lovers. If he bumps into them, goodby forever.

As the easy going might have suggested to the villain, his sedan chair has hit the snow-concealed tracks of the Indian railroad system. As the lovers will follow the same route, revenge seems certain.

Not asleep at the switch is the faithful Hindoo who has charge of the crossing here. And as he sees the monorail car Claude is in danger from the rushing chair he resolves to switch it to another line.

Sure enough, the faithful Indian railroad man does his work well, and Desmond, murder in his heart, sees that his victims are safe again. Also they are up to the peril they have escaped so narrowly.

The crafty white villain is now in the hands of the troops and it needs a great display of power to keep him from being lynched by the infuriated natives of the country.

"I'm the boy" cries Desperate Desmond, but I'm not impervious to missiles!" He is being dropped upon the polluted towers that distinguish Indian architecture. Will he die? We can't tell until to-morrow.

Heart-to-Heart Talks with Men

By FRANCES L. GARSIDE

WILL—You ask if your disposition to put a different woman in every ofcasalle you build denotes fickleness. Not necessarily. It merits notice. However, we would advise you to overcome it. For a reason—remember that every jealous wife is her own X-ray.

TIRED FATHER—The reason is inexplicable, but when a girl has wealth and a beautiful home it is invariably her desire to be married out under the trees. If she is poor, she will run her father into debt for new furniture and corpets so that she may hold her wedding in the house. You say you are poor and can't afford new furniture. Then your only relief lies in getting the man to elope with your daughter.

TIMID ONE—We run no ghost department, but we have studied the occult and feel warranted in assuring you that nothing you do will cause your wife's first husband to turn over in his grave. Without doubt men do turn over in their graves, but our research has established the fact that they never turn except through force of habit acquired when they themselves were on earth.

SOCIALLY AMBITIOUS HUSBAND—Your complaint that your wife is dull and silent when in society touches us. Did you ever try turning the subject of conversation around to abuse of your kind? We have known stupid women to grow brilliant on such a text.

PATIENCE—(1) Early Fall styles show no change in the shape of ties or bald spots. (2) The habit a woman has of looking at the clock when her husband comes home before she looks at her husband is inherited from all her maternal ancestors, and she can't help it. Don't blame her; if you must blame something, blame the clock.

WOULD-BE WIT—It is a time-honored custom for a man to begin his witty conversation at dinner by referring to the parsley in his wife sees for garnishing the meat as "weeds." Starting with this bon mot, which puts every one in good humor, he can cause more merriment by impudently asking, when his wife kicks his foot under the table, why she did it. Another favorite joke with husbands is to claim that everything good on the table was sent in by the neighbors. You need not hesitate because of the age of these witticisms. Some of our most prominent citizens use them.

ANTICIPATION—In preparing for a week-end visit with wealthy friends, new ties and sox to match and a collection of jokes are not the most important preparations; you should take a course in gymnastics so that you may be able to jump from rug to rug on the highly polished floors without stepping on the slippery places between and breaking your neck.

Proof Positive

IN all glorious New Jersey it is generally admitted there is no elder to equal that of Farmer Marshall. But he is humble for other things besides. It is said that he would very much rather receive than give—in short, that he is a stingy old rascal.

Young Peterson had heard of this, but he was a young man who had considerable faith in his own powers of passing on the gentle kind, and to some sportive companions he had boasted that he would get a drink of cider out of the old man without actually asking for it. As such a thing had never been known to happen in living memory, there were plenty of takers, and the next day Peterson drove over.

"Morning farmer!" said he. "Fine or chard you have here."

"Ay," said the farmer.

"They tell me, too, that you have a very fine press."

"Ay; tis the best in all Jersey."

"Pretty good cider you get, I suppose—eh? But I dare say I've tasted better.

"Not in your born days, Tom"—this to his son—"get an' draw a mug o' cider."

The luscious beverage was brought, and with a smile of triumph young Peterson held forth his hand to take it.

But the farmer's hand got there first. He drained the mug, and then handed it to the visitor.

"There!" he remarked. "If you think you've ever met the like of that cider, just wind the mug!"

PART ONE—(Continued)

YESTERDAY the party had struck this unknown, forgotten spot, relic of who knows what fugitive attempt at annexation, that lay on the route of the march, that route that no longer ran straight by the beaten rack toward Mesola and Cambola, but northward and yet more inland, toward their new objective, Nokyro.

The place where he first sighted it, with its lonely mud walls and ruinous hiatch, and seemed deserted. Despite his dread of meeting new faces, Martindale experienced a thrill of disappointment. He would not have acknowledged it to himself, perhaps; indeed, he scarcely realized the cause of his secret ill, but the loneliness and gloom of the forest was beginning to get powerfully upon him.

He had learned now that the green rubbish through which he and Kitty had walked the day she told him of her plan, with its atmosphere of dim, emerald twilight, had seemed to him like the entrance to some underworld of secret fear, had shown him the smiling, almost frivolous face of the African forest. In this new region through which for the last few days they had followed a track so lightly beaten as to be at times hardly discernible, it had shown him another and appalling aspect.

For days now their way had led him through a region of towering trees whose closely meeting flight of day shut out, not sunlight only, but the light of day itself; trees of unfamiliar foliage, whose giant trunks were shrouded with trailing moss, dismal and weed-colored, like an ancient's beard. A region of slush, intolerable heat that had reduced even the courage of the woman who, because she loved much, could suffer much silently, to a state of irritable nervosity; a place where the sodden, grassy, unseen ground gave out a rank odor of decay like a poisonous breath sent forth by Death itself.

The man who had been John Martindale had read often enough and suffered lingly of the joy that fills the heart of the traveler in these haunted places of the earth at the sight of a white face, or even at the sight of the work of a white man's hands. He experienced it himself at the sight of the ruinous rest-house—the joy and the sickening reaction of disappointment.

The Forgotten Hermit

But it proved inhabited.

As their company spontaneously signs of human occupation made themselves known, savage looking, partially naked men of a class of tribe Martindale had not yet encountered, a few round-limbed, totally naked children, who fled screaming at the sight of them, and presently there had come out on to the veranda a white man whose fair skin under his pith helmet had seemed unspeakably comely to John Martindale's eyes.

The man who to-day would make Kitty Saxe and John Martindale man and wife.

Standing there in the chill half light, Martindale found his thoughts curiously intermixed; thoughts of England, of the woman whose heart would presently be wounded almost to death because of him—the woman who one day he had looked to marrying with all the pomp and circumstance of cathedral rites; of the great quiet church he loved, whose stones had seemed to him like the crystallized breath of England's heart. Thoughts of the many, sleeping, quiet like drunken sleep in the rest-house behind him—the disgraced, discredited English parson who would marry him to-day to Kitty Saxe.

He felt a wave of angry resentment against what he chose now to call his fate rise up within him. That he whose eyes had been fixed always on the stars should be compelled to wade through such unsavory mire.

He knew little of the history of the man who was living out the last months of his misspent, consumptive life in this gloomy prison house of the forest; it was easy to guess at. What he did know was that the man had required to be bribed for the two cases of whiskey in John Saxe's stores before he would consent to use his priestly office; and that the bribe so eagerly desired, so reluctantly accepted CO. Chamber of Commerce, Boston would be the means of hastening his release from the prison of his flesh.

"The evil that men do lives after them," the trite quotation took on new meaning in Martindale's mind. Already it seemed to him that the legacy of sin he had inherited from the man into whose place of life he had stepped was bearing its first crop of ugly bitter fruit.

He leaned on the veranda and looked out to the forest. Death lay in wait there for a man—swift, easy, unsuspected death. Then the thought of Kitty came to him revivingly, bracing. She trusted him, he must not play the Judas to her also! He turned back to his room, threw himself on the bed, and slept till he heard Kitty's voice singing softly on the veranda outside.

Blotting Out Memories

It was her wedding day, and she was happy as a woman is who believes her beloved is here till the daybreak and the shadows flee away. The joy in her voice called rallyingly to the fever passion in his blood. He dressed hastily and went out to join her.

England and the woman who waited there for a letter—the woman whose heart was presently to be wounded to the death—the look of a woman's eyes, the touch of a woman's hands—these things blotted out from John Martindale's memory all remembrance of England and the things that had belonged to his peace.

No Swollen Hands for Anty Drudge.

Mrs. Youngwife—"I'm in a peck of trouble. Some friends are coming to dinner to-night to celebrate Tom's birthday, and my hands are so swollen, I am sure they will be noticed."

Anty Drudge—"What caused your hands to swell like that?"

Mrs. Youngwife—"I had two big baskets full of clothes to boil today—baby does get his frocks so awfully dirty."

Anty Drudge—"If my hands were in the condition of yours, I'd be ashamed of them, too. Why I had four big baskets full, and my hands would do credit to a first class manicure. My dear, use Fels-Naptha soap, as directed on the wrapper, and you will never be worried with swollen hands."

If you hired a girl to do the washing, you wouldn't do it yourself while she sat in the parlor, would you? That would be ridiculous.

Then, when you get a cake of Fels-Naptha soap, use it the Fels-Naptha way and let it do the work. If you use Fels-Naptha as you would other soaps, you are like the woman who does the work herself while her hired girl plays the piano.

A woman who uses Fels-Naptha as if it were just soap, instead of a new way of washing, is misguided or foolish.

The directions on the wrapper are plain: Use Fels-Naptha in cold or lukewarm water, with no boiling and no hard rubbing. That's why Fels-Naptha was invented, to do away with boiling and hard rubbing, save fuel, save health, save time and save the clothes. Make Fels-Naptha do your work for you while you play the piano. Follow the directions on the red and green wrapper.

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS; FINANCIAL NEWS

STOCK PRICES SHADE AT CLOSE

STATE STREET, Oct. 4—Closing: In late dealings stock market prices were shaded from earlier quotations but on the volume of selling, influences prevailed before the close. The buying was based on the theory that the city of New York's charter bill will be passed and will give the Interborough relief.

Late in the day it was announced that the Erie Railroad had sold $4,550,000 5 per cent. equipment notes to J. P. Morgan & Co., the First National and National City Banks.

Northern Pacific directors declared the usual quarterly dividend of 1½, per cent. to-day.

Stock Market prices for the most part to-day showed a fair amount of strength although this was the most unfavorable of the cases of American Telephone and Western Union. Attempts were made by the bear element to force prices, but it again became apparent that dullness encourages such weakness.

Even on the rallies there is no great amount of snap, so that activity for the greater part of the day the market was colorless.

Western Union rose 3¾ points to 81, which was accompanied by reports of an increase in the dividend rate shortly, or at least at an early date. The strength of this stock brought a sympathetic advance in Telephone shares, although it was not a fractional. Rather common did not maintain its recent advance, selling off some 2 points, but with partial subsequent recovery.

The "street" has not forgotten the semi-official promise made last Fear that dividends would be inaugurated and the failure to carry it out. Reports now feel of a declaration at the rate of 6 per cent. on this issue and that earnings are equivalent to 17 to 20 per cent.

Both Atchison and Northern Pacific reflected favorable gaining exhibits, the former shows earnings of 9.46 per cent. on the $165,518,500 common stock.

St. Paul went below last week's low and touched 105¾, with later recovery. The August exhibit of this railroad shows a 10 per cent. loss both in gross and net as compared with last year. The earnings for two months showed $1,741,000 applicable to dividends, which is at the rate of about 2 per cent. on the common stock.

Reform Is Needed in the Factory Inspection System of Massachusetts

An Amazing Confession of the Inefficiency of the State Police Made at the Faneuil Hall Mass Meeting to Protest Against the Employment of Women in Iron Foundries.

There are 55,000 factories and workshops in Massachusetts, and only seventeen factory inspectors. This fact was brought out at the big Faneuil Hall indignation meeting, held to protest against the horrible conditions of labor obtaining among the women coremakers at the Blake-Knowles foundry in Cambridge.

Equally significant is the statement by W. J. McKeever, an inspector of the State police, that ... a physical impossibility to enforce the labor laws of the State under present conditions.

And this in the face of an overwhelming public sentiment in favor of still other advanced legislation to prohibit the employment of women in foundries, following the article in the Sunday AMERICAN of last week.

Numerous complaints have been made concerning the non-enforcement of labor laws. In many instances, it is said these statutes are not worth the paper they are printed on.

The unwilling admissions of Inspector McKeever at the Faneuil Hall meeting bear out those charges. Some of the Massachusetts factories are inspected fifteen times a year. Others are gone over only once in fifteen years. Still others never are looked into by the State police.

The fact that there are nearly twice as many young workers from fourteen to sixteen years old as are reported by the State police in any one year proves that they do not cover the ground.

From an investigation of immigrant women, conducted by the Inter-Municipal Research Committee, it is learned that fully one-third of the girl workers, between eleven and sixteen years old, of non-English speaking races, are found violating the law.

This inefficiency of the State police, combined with the determination of the citizens as a whole to do away with the shameful practice of employing women in foundries and at other unwomanly callings, is a question that must be taken up by both political parties.

The honest employer of labor, in common with his employes, demands that some system more suited to the needs of the State be adopted for the enforcement of factory and other labor legislation.

Under the haphazard regime of to-day there are boiler inspectors, building inspectors, State police inspectors, State Board of Health inspectors, local Board of Health inspectors, and truant officers, all covering the same ground.

There is no centralization of authority. The fair-minded employer is at times needlessly harassed, and the law-breaking manufacturer passed over for lack of time to visit his workshop.

Labor is dissatisfied, and a soul-killing treatment of women wage workers is rapidly displacing American standards of living.

Immense expenditures of money are required to pay for duplicate inspection by different boards. The small army of officeholders drawing pay from the State treasury, without being able to enforce its labor laws, are the only beneficiaries.

It was to do away with this chaotic condition that far-sighted citizens at the big meeting of protest in Faneuil Hall demanded that every political party incorporate a pledge in its platform to prohibit the employment of women in foundries, and creating a Labor Department for the enforcement of all labor laws.

In that resolution all citizens of Massachusetts were urged to insist upon a reply from every candidate for public office to the following question:

"WILL YOU PROMISE, IF ELECTED, TO WORK AND VOTE FOR A LAW PROHIBITING THE EMPLOYMENT OF WOMEN AND GIRLS IN CORE ROOMS AND FOUNDRIES, AND A LAW TO CREATE A DEPARTMENT OF LABOR FOR THE ENFORCEMENT OF ALL LABOR LAWS."

The issue is now squarely before the people.

A vote for any candidate who refuses to give a satisfactory reply to this specific question, regardless of party affiliation, is a vote in favor of the continued non-enforcement of the labor laws of the Commonwealth. It also is a vote in favor of a still further wasteful expenditure of State funds.

Women foundry workers and an American standard of living for other women wage workers in this State cannot exist side by side.

One or the other must of a necessity be done away with. Efficient factory inspection with duplicate boards and seventeen inspectors for 55,000 institutions is a manifest impossibility. Industrial chaos must continue unless a Labor Department is instituted.

The candidate for public office who refuses to sign the Faneuil Hall pledge must be dealt with.

There is no other solution to these grave problems now confronting the people of Massachusetts.

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

PLEASED AT EDITORIAL

Editor AMERICAN:

I take great pleasure in tendering you my deepest congratulations for the editorial appearing in this evening's edition of your dignified publication. Owing to the extensive circulation of your paper I feel justified in assuming that it voices the sentiments of the great majority. I was so pleased at the logical and intelligent manner in which the Italo-Turkish entanglement was discussed that I could not suppress the force that prompted me to write this note. And it was with great delight that I read, "America is on the side of Italy, since Italy is on the side of civilization."

Trusting that I am not alone in offering congratulations for the high character of one out of the many cogent and instructive editorials that daily appear in your paper, I am, very respectfully,

ALPHONSE CANGIANO.

The Song of the Dirt

With Apologies to Tom Hood.

The AMERICAN is in receipt of the following letter and poem from Mr. Samuel F. Strangford of Springfield. We gladly publish the poem, and we thank Mr. Strangford for his good wishes and aid.

Editor AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—If the inclosed is available for insertion in the AMERICAN, I should be very glad to do my mite to help along the work which you are doing to prohibit the employment of women under brutalizing conditions in the foundries of this State. Wishing you all success, I am

Sincerely yours,
SAMUEL F. STRANGFORD.

22 Andrew street, Springfield.

With fingers bleeding and torn,
With eyeballs staring and red,
A woman toiled in unwomanly garb,
Earning her daily bread—
Found! pound! pound!
Her limbs with a sack begirt,
In a melting room's terrific heat
She pounded the foundry dirt.

"Work—work—work!
While authorities keep aloof!
And work—work—work,
Beneath the grimy roof!
It's O! to be a slave
Along with the barbarous Turk,
Where woman has never a soul to save,
If this is Christian work!

"Lift—lift—lift
Till swims the tortured brain!
Lift—lift—lift
Till the muscles crack again!
Core, and mold, and cast,
Cast, and mold, and core,
Till I long to sink in a dreamless sleep
In the filth and grime of the floor!

"Some men call us sisters dear!
Some day we may be wives!
Not only of us are they taking toll
But of unborn children's lives.
Pound—lift—faint!
Too weary to even moan,
Wrecking at once with a double curse
Their lives as well as our own.

"I think I would welcome Death,
The dead are the truly blest,
No more to toil in this terrible place,
But to be forever at rest!
This country's so like my own,
Where women with beasts they yoke:
And yet they call this the land of the free!
O God! what a grisly joke.

"Found! pound! pound!
My labor never flags;
And what are its wages? A dollar a day—
A crust of bread, and rags.
Come to our hovels and peer within,
A table—a broken chair—
And a life all blank in its shadow's dank
And a future hopeless and bare.

"Pound—pound—pound!
From early morn till night,
And lift—lift—lift,
With our tortured muscles' might—
And through the whitewashed panes
God's sunshine never falls,
And the sweet, free air through the closemashed screens
Ne'er penetrates these walls.

"And what a task is ours!
No respite however brief!
Nothing but labor and endless toil,
With never a hope of relief!
Too tired at night to swallow our crust,
Like cattle we seek our bed,
For nothing we stop, but ere exhausted we drop,
And sleep the sleep of the dead."

With fingers bleeding and torn,
With eyeballs staring and red,
A woman toiled in unwomanly garb
Earning her daily bread—
Found—pound—pound!
Her limbs with a sack begirt,
(Of clothing she'd scarcely another stitch)
She toiled to enrich masters already rich
In the terrible heat and dirt.

Adventures of Piute Pete

By MILES OVERHOLT

PIUTE PETE was in a reflective mood. "Mebbe you never fought a forest fire and mebbe you did," he said, "but you never saw one fight one, and that's what I am going to tell you about.

"You know, or mebbe you don't that I'm some prize fighter. I've knocked 'em out till you would think I was a legitimate child of the San Francisco earthquake and a Dakota blizzard. Honest, I used to be a double-barrelled holocaust, and folks came from miles around to see me start graveyards.

"So when a forest fire started things, why I rolled up my hands, spat on my sleeves and climbed over the pipes. 'Any time,' I says, 'I can't lick a forest fire that never was trained by Corbett.' I says, 'I'll quit the game and swear I was doped,' I says.

"But, say, there ain't no clinches, no uppercuts, no shortcuts, no nothing in this kind of a contest. I thought mebbe I could get in a punch below the timber belt and put it out on a fool, or mebbe a mill—quite a sawmill, if you don't mind. The flames were licking the trees, too, and you could hear their pitiful barks peeled o'er the sight. It was sure sad.

"But when a pall of smoke as big as Jack Johnson grabbed me by the smoke-stack and a cough of fire slandered me, why, I went out the back way and slammed the door.

"The trouble is, in fighting fires, there are no rules. Man would have to be a regular hose company to have a show—and, say, speaking of hose companies and chows, what's that got to do with a bunch of chorus girls, huh? Think it over."

Round the World in 13 Days

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

IN Paris, where the imagination frequently runs with a blue flame, indicative, like blue meteors, of intense combustion, they are now talking of a tour of the world by aeroplane. It is the ideal way to go, they aver, and even more promising in the matter of romantic adventure than Jules Verne's circumambient flight by held-up trains, lumbering elephants and exploding steamships. The aerial route has no custom houses, no detours, no washed-out bridges, no delayed connections; and if some charming person had to be rescued en route it could be more easily as well as more theatrically effected by dropping down out of the sky, a la Perseus.

"It will be easy," say the enthusiasts, "to make 1,200 kilometres (745 miles) a day by aeroplane within a few years, and then we shall go round the world in less than a month."

But 745 miles a day is only about thirty-one miles an hour, and, even allowing for delays, one may expect that the perfected aeroplane will do better than that. It ought to average fifty miles an hour, or 1,200 miles a day. Then world-circling by aero might indeed be a most fascinating sport. The time required would, of course, depend upon the latitude of the circle followed. At the equator the circumference of the earth is about 25,000 miles. The circumference of any circle is found by multiplying its diameter by 3.14, but on a globe like the earth the diameter of the circle represented by any parallel of latitude varies as the co-sine of the altitude. At altitude 0 degree (the equator) the co-sine is 1, and the diameter, as found, numbers 8,000 miles; but at latitude 40 degrees, the co-sine is only 0.76, corresponding to a diameter of 6,080 miles, which multiplied by 3.14 gives about 19,000 miles for the circumference. For latitude 50 degrees the co-sine is 0.64, making the circumference only 16,000 miles: while in latitude 60 degrees, where the co-sine is only 0.5, the circumference cannot exceed about 12,500 miles.

The latitude of 50 degrees north, passing courtesily over Europe, Asia and North America, would seem to offer a good aerial route, with a distance of only 16,000 miles to traverse, and at 1,200 miles a day the circuit could be completed in thirteen days and eight hours.

At present this is only a dream, but Jules Verne's romance was also a dream, and yet he lived to see his imaginary eighty days cut down one-half by actual performance.
